WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2, 1870.

The Tax on Incomes.

Nearly the whole of to-day's session of the House was spent in discussion as to the expediency of continuing the income tax. Five minute speeches in favor of its total abolition were made by Messrs. O'Neil, Hill, Kellogg, Niblack, Myers, Wood, Sargent, Potter, Davis, Fitch, Banks, Archer, Kelley and Moore, of Illinois—four Democrats and ten Republicans. Speeches favoring its continuance in some form were made by Messrs. McCreary, Wilson, Townsend, Hale, Ward, Finkelburg, Allison, Farnsworth, Ingersoll, Atwood, Benton, Winans, Judd, Beck, Brooks, of Massachusetts; Hoar, Dawes and Roots, two Democrats and sixteen Republicans. Mr. Schenck closed the debate with a strong argument for its continuance, and then the matter went over till to-morrow for settlement. About thirty amendments to Schenck's bill were offered, which are to be printed and voted on without further talk. The chances seem to be that the tax will be continued at five per cent., with two thousand dollars exemption, or three per cent., with fifteen hundred exemption.

Interest on Bonds to be Taxed.

The Ways and Means Committee provided that interest on government bonds shall be taxed with other income, but Beck and the Democrats are, of course, not satisfied with this, and so he brought in a proposition to levy five per cent. tax on all coupons, and have it collected when they are presented for payment. This would tax bonds in the hands of foreigners as well as those held by such of our citizens as do not receive one thousand dollars income yearly. The House without debate agreed to the proposition by twenty-five majority on a rising vote. The yeas and nays were at once called for, and a good deal of excitement was manifested at the prospect of things. Allison declared that the House did not know what it was about, and said this proposition ought to be acted on in connection with the income tax, and moved to adjourn so that the whole matter might come up to-morrow. The Democrats resisted, but adjournment was finally carried nearly an hour earlier than usual by a good majority.

The Tariff.

There is every prospect of a lively time in the House to-morrow or Saturday on the tariff question. General Schenck intimated to-day that he would move the short tariff bill as a new section to the pending bill reducing taxation. Just what it is he does not fully state and his associates on the Ways and Means Committee profess not to know. As near as can be learned, he takes from the old tariff bill its free list, and adds thereto the clauses agreed upon by the House, reducing the rates on tea, coffee, sugar and some of the spices, with perhaps some of the clauses reducing rates on manufactured iron. There are also in circulation among members two other short tariff bills never yet printed, and wholly inaccessible, one or both of which will probably be moved as a substitute or amendment to Schenck's when it is presented. The talk through the House is strong in the direction of doing something before the bill reducing taxation goes to the Senate, and the most well informed members expect a vigorous renewal of the tariff struggle at once.

The Funding Bill

Will probably come out of the Ways and Means Committee early next week. Members are reticent as never before, but admit that an agreement to report has been made, and say it seems advisable the views of the committee should not be known prior to the discussion on Garfield's bank bill, which is now set for next Tuesday. If a guess may be hazarded, it is that Schenck will reject the Senate funding bill, and bring in a simpler proposition for a four per cent. thirty year gold bond, free of all taxation except on income.

The Cuban Question.

The talk in various quarters that the President has changed his position on the Cuban question is without authority. He stated yesterday that he not only had seen no reason for granting further aid to the insurgents, but that recent events had strengthened his conviction that the insurrection was a grave mistake. There are some indications that Congress and the country may before long get an official statement as to the views of the administration on the Cuban and other questions of foreign policy.

Important Suit.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has begun an interesting and important suit over in Baltimore. It is against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for about ninety thousand dollars, being the five per cent. internal revenue tax due the Government on interest received by the company from a loan made it by the city. It is said the company deducts the tax from its dividends, but fails to hand it over to the United States, on the ground that it is due to the city, though nothing has ever been paid to the authorities of Baltimore.

No Subsidies to Cable Lines.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee this morning, on motion of Mr. Judd, seconded by Mr. Orth, adopted an important declaration to the effect that it is inexpedient for the United States to grant subsidies in any form, either of lands or money, to aid in the construction of ocean telegraph lines. This was carried by a strong vote, and may be taken as the settled opinion of the Committee. It shows what would be the fate there of any telegraph subsidy bill from the Senate.

Persecution of the Jews in Roumania.

The cable dispatches as to the murder of Jews in Roumania has stirred up the people of that faith in this country to send telegrams here, asking the interposition of the government in some form. The President to-day showed his condemnation of these outrages and his sympathy with a persecuted people by appointing a leading Israelite of Roumania as our Consul General at Bucharest.

Surveys on the Upper Mississippi.

The War Department to-day sent to the House reports from Gen. Warren and his assistants, relative to the progress of surveys on the Upper Mississippi. They think it is practicable to extend the canal through from Sand Lake to St. Louis river; thence from slack water navigation down the St. Louis to navigable waters below the rapids; thence connecting the navigable waters of the Upper Mississippi with Lake Superior. From Sand Lake to the rapids of the St. Louis is about forty miles. It is also thought a canal could be constructed to connect the large lakes at the source of the Mississippi river with the Red River of the North. It is recommended that the surveys be continued so as to definitely determine the feasibility of these projects, and the cost of making the proposed canals if practicable.

BREST, June 2.—The object of the visit of King William to Ems is to confer with the Czar.

The Mordaunt Divorce Case.

LONDON, June 2.—The long contested Mordaunt divorce case, involving the question whether Sir Charles could prosecute a divorce suit notwithstanding the insanity of Lady Mordaunt, was decided against Sir Charles. He will appeal to the House of Lords.

3 P. M.—Chief Baron has concluded his opinion in the Mordaunt divorce case, as follows: The Court should stay proceedings so long as there are any hopes of Lady Mordaunt's recovery, but if the expectations of a favorable turn prove useless, Sir Charles could prosecute the case.

LONDON, June 2.—The decision on the appeal of plaintiff in the Mordaunt divorce case to-day was rendered by Lord Renseance and Justices Kelly and Keating. The court held that owing to the continued insanity of Lady Mordaunt, she is in no condition to make a legal reply, and therefore proceedings for divorce can be carried no further.

Disraeli and Lothair.

A virulent criticism appears in Blackwood on Disraeli and Lothair. The article puzzles the politicians. Many think the tories have taken this course to shelve him.

The police have discovered a formidable Fenian plot to simultaneously attack several arsenals and armories and pillage them of their contents, war material, &c. The precautionary measures of the authorities have stopped the scheme. There is much excitement.

Affairs are rapidly approaching a crisis.

Unusual precautions had been taken by the police, and no disturbance took place. Nothing of importance was elicited at the examination. Bail was offered for the prisoners but refused, and the men were remanded to jail.

The Derby.

Among the distinguished persons who attended the Derby yesterday, was Mr. Gladstone. The Daily Telegraph has some droll comments on the circumstance.

New Telegraph Cable.

Concessions have been granted for laying the telegraphic cable between some points on the English coast and Corunna, in Spain.

Spanish Cuban Intelligence.

MADRID, June 2.—Dispatches have been received at the Colonial ministry from Captain General De Rodas, informing the Government that the insurgent Generals in Cuba offer to surrender, on condition that their lives and property be spared, and asking for instructions. The Government has replied that it is their desire that the rebel officers, since they desire to give up the contest and be reconciled to Spain, be dealt with generously.

The Cortes and the Crown.

On Monday next the Cortes will commence to discuss the question of filling the throne with the purpose of reaching a solution. The partizans of Montpensier are zealous and active, and have great hopes of securing his nomination. The Republican journals are extremely bitter against him. They declare that the country is in danger when such a man is proposed in connection with the crown, and urge an unrelenting war against the Frenchman, as they term the Duke. As the day for debate approaches the agitation grows deeper.

BODY GIVEN UP.

The body of Rowe was willingly given up to his friends on a request being made to Lieutenant Colonel W. Osborne Smith, commanding the Canadian forces on the Southern frontier, by Deputy Marshal J. M. General Assembly at Philadelphia.

Proposed Endowment by the United States Government of Professorships in Highland Presbyterian University—Place of Meeting of the Next General Assembly—The Synod of Canada, &c., &c.

General Assembly at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—In the Presbyterian General Assembly this morning, reports from several committees were presented, stating that the United States Government proposed to endow several professorships in the Highland Presbyterian University, in case that institution will undertake the education of Indians who shall act as teachers and missionaries among the Indian tribes. Resolutions accepting the offer were adopted. An overture was presented by the Committee on the Policy of the Church, constituting the Presbytery of East Florada was agreed to.

The Committee on the Theological Seminary of the Northwest at Chicago presented majority and minority reports. The majority report heavily censured three members of the present Board of Directors, and directed them to resign. Both reports were received and the majority report adopted. Afterwards the censures were stricken out. On the question of the adoption of the report a very warm and lengthy discussion took place.

The final items of the finance report concerning the five million fund were adopted. The final item was altered so as to make that of collections in the month of January next as or near as possible simultaneous, instead of fixing a day.

The First Presbyterian Church in Chicago was fixed as the place of meeting for the next General Assembly. Rev. Dr. C. LePrentiss and T. J. Skinner, Jr., were nominated to the vacant Chicago professorships.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—The report of the Board of Education was taken up. Speeches were made by Dr. F. D. Ward and Rev. C. R. Gregory. The latter offered a resolution on the subject of applicants for the ministry as an amendment to the report. The report as amended was adopted. The report of the Joint Committee on the Reconstruction of the Board of Education was considered and adopted. Rev. Dr. Breed moved that the Secretaries of the several Boards have the privilege of corresponding with members on questions concerning their several Boards. Adopted.

The report of the Committee on Freedmen was taken up. Speeches were made by Dr. Musgrave, Rev. Mr. Adams, Mr. J. H. Thomson and Elder Calvin McCarty, the three latter being colored Commissioners. Addresses were also made by Rev. Mr. Belville and General E. M. Gregory.

Reformed Church Synod at Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., June 2.—In the National Synod of the Reformed Church a favorable report was made on the Theological Seminary, a new institute which has been commenced at Amelia Court House, Va. Delegates from the General Presbyterian Assemblies in Philadelphia and Canada were received. The convention decided against the right of clergymen to vote in the classis.

Pending action on the report the Assembly adjourned until this evening, when Dr. Beatty moved the order of the day be suspended to take up and hear the report of the committee to engross the report of the Reconstruction Committee. The report was read and adopted. The report of the Committee to prepare an act to enable Synods to reorganize, was read and placed on docket and made the first order for to-morrow. An invitation from the Mayor was accepted to be present at the annual review of the police force Wednesday next. Synodical reports were presented, after which the Assembly adjourned until to-morrow.

LIMA, OHIO.

Man Killed—The Fremont and Louisville Railroad—Medical Association—Improvements in the City—The Drought.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

LIMA, O., June 2, 1870.

Paul Busby, switchman in the yard of the Dayton and Michigan Railroad at this place, was killed last night while making a coupling between two passenger coaches. He leaves a family.

Our citizens are now agitating the question of giving aid to the Lake Erie and Louisville Railroad, and a meeting is to be held here Saturday night next to see what can be done in the matter. The road has been in operation some years between Fremont and Findlay, and graded to within four miles of Lima. The company now controlling the road offer to complete it to Lima within a year, provided the citizens along the line will give them $100,000 when completed. It is thought the money will be easily raised. The road is not expected to stop at Lima, but will go through to Union City, Ind., as the citizens of St. Marys, Celina and other points are very anxious for the railroad, and will give it substantial aid. The route from here to Union is partially graded, and the remainder is well adapted for a railroad, little or no grades to be made, and but few streams to bridge. When finished to Union only a gap of thirty miles will remain to make a continuous line from Fremont to Louisville, Ky.

The Northwestern Ohio Medical Association are holding their third session at Kenton, commencing to-day. It is expected the attendance will be large and the proceedings interesting and profitable. Doctors Baxter and Hiner of this city will read two papers before the meeting to-day.

The building for the Lima paper mill is nearly completed, and the machinery will be on the ground in a few days. It will probably cost $40,000.

Work has commenced on the new jail and Sheriff's residence. They are to cost $35,000. A contract has also been awarded for a new union school house, to cost $30,000.

The drought is doing great damage to the crops in this section of the country.

A PRINCESS ON THE ROSTRUM.

Princess Editha, daughter of Lola Montez and ex-King Leopold of Belgium, lectured to-night at Steinway Hall on the special condition of woman—what she was, is and should be. She was introduced by Mrs. Cady Stanton, but soon after she commenced speaking she was interrupted by an inquisitive auditor anxious to gain information as to her paternity. The Princess defied, and the audience suppressed him, and he soon left the hall. Miss Editha then proceeded to condemn the members of Sorosis as a party of talkers instead of workers, and to advocate reform in dress as the first step toward reform in politics and morals. The Princess announced that she would appear on Broadway to-morrow in the new parliamentary costume. The Princess made no attempt to defend her mother's character, as had been announced, saying she had seen her mother but four times.

GOLDWIN SMITH TO DISRAELI.

The Tribune has been requested to and will publish to-morrow the following letter:

MAY 25TH, 1870.

To the Right Hon. B. Disraeli:

SIR: In your "Lothair" you introduce an Oxford Professor who is about to emigrate to America, and you describe him as a social parasite. You well know that if you had ventured openly to accuse me of any social baseness, you would have had to answer for your words; but, when sheltering yourself under the literary forms of a work of fiction you seek to traduce with impunity the social character of a political opponent, your expressions can touch no man's honor. They are the stingless insults of a coward.

Your obedient servant,
GOLDWIN SMITH.

ASSAULT ON A POLICEMAN.

Three Fourth ward roughs this evening made an attack on police officer Burke and beat him terribly. Burke shot one, named Patrick Hassan, dead. The cause of their enmity was that Burke got a friend of theirs sent to State prison. The other ruffians were John McCarthy and Michael Varley, a brother of Reddy the blacksmith.

THE INDIANS.

The Indians Preparing to Make an Attack on Fort Buford—About Five Hundred Sioux on the War Path.

CHICAGO, June 2.—A communication received at military headquarters in this city to-day from Col. Morrow, who commands the military forces at Fort Buford, Dakota Territory, states that war upon the whites had been openly declared by the Indians in that vicinity, and they were undoubtedly preparing to make an attack upon Fort Buford in strong force. The Indian warriors thereabouts, who are Sioux, number from 300 to 500, while Col. Morrow had but fifty men ready for service. Yet, with that disparity of numbers, he felt confident that he could successfully resist any attack which the Indians might make, and also protect his herds of stock, etc. He had sent out ten friendly Indians to reconnoiter, who met what was supposed to be the advance guard of the hostile band, and were driven back. All of the Colonel's scouts seemed confident of a speedy fight, but no fear was felt as to the result. Fort Buford has for some time been garrisoned nominally by two companies, but at last accounts two companies of the seventh regiment were en route for that post to take the place of the others. It is expected that Lieut. Gen. Sheridan has reached Fort Buford by this time.

The Flowing Well on Armstrong Run.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

ARMSTRONG RUN, PA., June 2, 1870.

The big well which was struck here in April, and which caused so much excitement at the time, was cleaned out to-day, and by actual measurement is flowing two hundred and forty barrels per day. The tools and ropes, which have been fast in the well ever since the fire, were taken out some days ago, when it was found that over one hundred feet of mud remained in the well. Notwithstanding all this it has flowed regularly since the commencement immense quantities of oil.

A NEW WAY TO RAISE THE WIND.—A short time since a well known dealer in petroleum ordered a fine suit of clothing from a fashionable tailor, and left directions where he wished them sent. On last Saturday the suit was finished, and sent, according to directions, to No. —— Duquesne Way, between Seventh and Eighth streets, where it was received by Mr. ——. The fact becoming known, several worthies thought to play the rather questionable joke of pawning the clothes at Roger S——'s saloon, on Seventh street, for liquor, which was no sooner thought of than executed, and then, to cap the climax, left an anonymous note, stating where the clothing could be found. Our oil friend went to Roddy's and found that the thirsty individuals had secured forty-five cents' worth of whiskey on the clothing pledged, which amount Roddy would not give them on their faces, and as Roddy is still minus forty-five cents, the worthies may yet have some additional fun.

FENIANS IN PITTSBURGH.

The Mass Meeting Last Night.

Funds Raised to Bring the Soldiers Home—A Committee Appointed to Raise More Funds—Speech of a Captain From the Front.

A public mass meeting in aid of the Fenian cause was held at Lafayette Hall last evening. At the time appointed for the meeting, there were not over half a dozen present, and it looked as though the mass meeting would be a failure, but the crowd rapidly increased until shortly after eight o'clock, when there were some fifty persons present, and the meeting came to order by calling Mr. James Dacy to the chair.

REMARKS OF MR. DACY.

Mr. Dacy, on taking the chair, said: Gentlemen:—In calling the meeting to order I need hardly state, as you are all aware of the purpose for which we have met this evening. It has been stated in the papers that we would hold a meeting this evening for the purpose of aiding the men in the front, But undoubtedly our hopes were not realized with regard to the success of the expedition that went from different parts of the country to Canada. But we have a duty to perform to those who went there to give their lives to Ireland. I believe it is our duty to raise funds to bring them back. You will all see the necessity of it. There should not be an Irishman who would not give his mite for the object of bringing them back. While there are good men to uphold any good cause it never can be lost. I hope, without further speech-making, the necessary funds will be raised to bring these men decently back. [Applause and cries of hear, hear.] We want to be practical upon this occasion.

SPEECH BY CAPTAIN GALLAGHER.

Captain Gallagher who, the President stated, had displayed bravery in the front, was introduced and made a brief speech. He said the Pittsburgh delegation on Wednesday morning went to Rome, and on Thursday evening arrived at Malone; from there they went to the camp about twenty-five miles in the State of New York. The camp was an ill-advised one, without provisions and equipments, etc., in bad order. Starr got command, and O'Leary was there. Some wanted to cross into Canada with fifty men, and this idea the speaker had opposed. A council of war was held, and in the morning they went over with two hundred and fifty men. The Government troops were there in force. The speaker was almost certain that he saw a British officer fall, shot by the advance guards. [Applause.] The Fenians had returned in good order, all things considered. General Starr left on the first train, and the whole affair should be blamed on the Generals, for the men that were there wanted to fight, and if there had been any General to lead them they would have gone on. The men that left here did not wish to return, but were compelled to do so, and had to apply to those who sent them out to assist them.

NUMBER OF MEN FROM PITTSBURGH.

A member—Have you any idea of the number of men at Malone, that want to come back?

The speaker—Six men in Buffalo from whom I received a telegram to-night. The others are in Malone.

Member—Have you an idea of the number at Malone that went from here?

The speaker—There were twenty-three in Malone that went from here and six in Buffalo.

FUNDS RAISED.

It was then suggested that funds be raised on the spot, and the following parties contributed: James Gray, $5; Mr. Kearney, $5; Mr. Lyon, $2; F. Meagher, $1; Frank Gilmore, $2; John McMahon, $5; G. Percey, $2; Wm. O'Donnell, $2; James Carland, $2; John Russell, $2; Patrick O'Connell, $1; John Shields, $2; Chill Powers, $1; M. McIntry, $1; A. Brown, $1—total, $34.

The Secretary stated that the total amount now in his possession was $98.

It was stated that this sum would not be sufficient to bring home the twenty-three men, and it was moved that a committee be appointed to collect funds. The motion was adopted and the following committee appointed: Messrs. McAleer, Russell, Richardson, Powers and Kennedy.

A member suggested that the committee divide itself into two parties, as it would not be advisable for six men to go around the city in a body soliciting money.

Another member thought the committee could best arrange that matter among themselves.

SPEECH OF MR. M'ALEER.

Mr. McAleer said: Gentlemen and Brother Irishmen—We have been defeated. We have been defeated by trickery—nothing else. And it behooves us now to raise all the funds in our power to fetch the men back that were sent to the front. The men fought bravely; but they were not successful. And it is for us now to do the best thing possible, and to fetch the men back speedily to their homes again. [Cheers and cries of "Hear, hear."]

THE PRESS CENSURED.

Mr. Maher said he noticed there were a number of reporters present. One paper in the city had abused Fenians, and it was likely the proceedings of this body would be misrepresented. [Cries of "order, order."]

The President said the point of order was well taken.

PROMPT ACTION RECOMMENDED.

Mr. Russell said those men at Malone were suffering for the necessaries of life, and he thought money should be forwarded immediately.

Mr. Gallagher said the money could be deposited at the Union Depot, and the six men at Buffalo could be furnished with transportation at once, by telegraph.

A motion was made and carried that the money be forwarded at once.

Mr. Gallagher said that of those six men who were in Buffalo, who had started back with him from Malone, three had sufficient funds to bring them to Pittsburgh, but they had divided with their less fortunate comrades, and the funds were only sufficient to bring the party as far as Buffalo. Now the six men were at the latter city in utterly destitute circumstances.

The Committee were instructed to ascertain by telegraph as to the number of men that wished to return.

THE PRESS AGAIN.

Mr. Maher—I made a remark a few minutes ago, and I wish to again call the attention of the meeting to the matter. I know that this meeting will be ridiculed, as that paper always heaps all the ridicule it can on the Irish question.

The President—What paper do you refer to?

Mr. Maher—I refer to the Daily Dispatch.

A reporter of the Gazette—The Dispatch is not represented here to-night.

Mr. Maher—I don't know who is here and who is not here; but I want to call the attention of the meeting to the matter.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Meeting Yesterday.

The Board of Guardians of the Poor held a meeting at the office of George Fortune, M. D., yesterday afternoon at two o'clock.

Members present: Messrs. Douglass, Fitzsimons, Hays, Hartley, Kinkaid, Shaw and Torrence.

The Committee on Railroads was continued.

I. Ward, Physician of the City Farm, reported that during the month of May ten cases were admitted to the hospital, and there were during the month five deaths.

W. D. Patterson, Superintendent, at the City Farm, presented a report, calling attention to certain repairs needed at the City Farm.

Mr Patterson also presented a report showing that during the month of May there were admitted to the Hospital twenty-six—fourteen males, twelve females; during the same time thirty-nine persons have left the Home—seventeen males and twenty-two females. At the present time there are one hundred and fifty inmates—seventy males and eighty females. There was one birth and five deaths during the month.

The President was authorized to draw warrants for the payment of monthly bills to the amount of $1,300 80.

The report of S. M. Benham, M. D., was received and accepted. It showed that he had made, during the month, twenty-four visits, and had thirteen office patients.

The report of T. A. Rey, M. D., was also received and accepted. It showed a total of fifty-six visits, of which number eight were office patients.

Adjourned.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Child Run Over on Liberty Street and Trampled by a Horse—Arrest of the Rider of the Horse.

Yesterday afternoon about three o'clock a little boy named Dennis O'Connell, about six years of age, son of David O'Connell, was run over on Liberty street and so seriously injured that it was feared for a time that he could not possibly recover. It appeared that a boy named John Scott, fifteen years of age, was riding a spirited horse belonging to Joseph Hastings, along Liberty street, near Twenty-first, when he ran over the boy, the horse's foot stamping the unfortunate child on the head and inflicting a wound that will perhaps result fatally. The horse dashed off at a rapid rate, and a large number of persons, who had witnessed the occurrence, started in pursuit. The boy was arrested at the corner of Grant street and Sixth avenue, and taken to the Mayor's office, as it was supposed at first that the child was killed. He was subsequently released on bail. The friends of Scott claim that the horse became unmanageable, being frightened at the cars, and that he was unable to control it at the time the child was run over.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

An Infant Knocked Down by a Train of Cars.

A serious accident happened on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, yesterday, to a child aged two years, daughter of Mr. John Lewis, of Lawrenceville. The child, it appears, was following its father, who had just crossed the track to go to his work in one of the mills near by, when a train of cars was seen approaching. Before the child got off the track, it was struck on the head and knocked down; but before any other injury was inflicted it was seized by a man who witnessed its perilous situation, and pulled from under the cars in time to save it from being crushed to death instantly. Dr. H. H. Clark was summoned, and on examination it was found that the child had received several gashes on the head, and was suffering from concussion of the brain. It will probably recover.

The Armstrong Run Territory.

Production of the Parker Field Increasing—New Wells Going Down—The Clarion Region.

From the East Brady Independent we learn that the ropes and tools have been drawn from the big well on Armstrong run, and it is now proposed to sink the well a further distance of eighteen or twenty feet, when it will be cased and tubed. From every indication the well will prove to be of the first magnitude.

The following is a list of operators, who have put up rigs, some of whom have already commenced to drill:

Williamson Farm—Haines, Reynolds & Co; J. H. Haines, James Wilson and L. P. Walker.

Meldrin Farm.—Meldrins' well, Dr. J. W. James, George Huston & Co. and Westhelmer & Kuhn.

PARKER'S LANDING.

Business has revived and trade is very brisk. Within a week a large number of new wells will be completed and tested and their production ascertained. The supply of oil from the Parker field is increasing, speaking well for the richness of the locality, and affords some ground for the claim of operators there that it is the best producing territory yet discovered, the large number of paying wells being taken into consideration.

The Little Annie, on the Independent tract, was tubed on Saturday last, and is now doing twenty barrels per day. It is managed by Mr. Clark Wilson.

The Cypress, on land of J. W. Parker, is pumping thirty-seven barrels a day. It is owned by P. Hicker, R. R. McGregor, S. Trautwine, C. B. Winslow, of this vicinity, Mrs. Mason, of Kittanning, and others.

The Alpine, which decreased to about fifteen barrels a day, was torpedoed last week, and produced fifty-four barrels of oil the first twenty-four hour's pumping. The well is good for forty barrels a day.

The Berger well, famous in its day, had decreased to some extent, but after being torpedoed, has produced from forty to fifty barrels per day since.

The Priscilla, near the Union Church, in which Captain A. H. Ayers and others are interested, was torpedoed a few days ago, and is now doing seventy barrels a day. It was drilled and is now operated by the Elliott Brothers.

The Sure Pop is testing, and presents a good show; it will prove a good well. Owned by J. B. Finlay and others.

The Good Intent, just down, will be immediately tubed, cased and tested. Owned by Captain Timblin and Colonel Finlay.

The Round Reserve is about testing; presents a fine appearance. Owned by R. Jennings, J. A. Brown, Colonel J. B. Finlay, and others.

The Keystone commenced pumping on Friday of last week and is fairly doing forty barrels per day. It is owned by Col. Leech and others.

The Shannon well, on Cooper farm, commenced on Saturday and is doing from thirty to forty barrels. It is owned by J. N. Garrison, of Brookville, J. A. Brown, of East Brady, and P. M. Shannon, of Pittsburgh.

The Middleton well, on the land of M. S. Adams, is pumping from fifteen to twenty barrels per day. It is owned by J. & G. Cowan, A. H. McKee, J. A. Swartzlander and others.

Production for the month, 57,985 bbls; average per day for the month, 1,931; number of wells producing for the month, 28; average daily production per well during the month, 8.1 bbls; number of wells being drilled, 152; number of new wells commenced during the month, 21; number of wells completed during the month, 52; number of wells abandoned during the month, 6.

CLARION.

Well No. 1, on Pollock farm, Perry township, Clarion county, has been pumping ten days and is doing about ten barrels. The mud has interfered, but being cased now, will prove a good well. Owned by S. D. Karns.

The Hagerstown well is doing about one and a half barrels per day.

The Phillips well, belonging to the Graham's Landing Oil Company, was torpedoed on Tuesday last, and has increased from ten to sixty barrels per day.

The Mountain well on the Kelly farm is reported doing fifteen barrels per day.

The Elephant well, on the same farm, is yielding about ten barrels per day.

FLOWING WELLS AT RENO.

From the Oil City Times we learn that a new well was struck at Reno on Friday last, on the Reno Company's land, in the rear of the Folger House on the hill, which is flowing at the rate of six barrels per hour, with the sucker rods out. It is thought the well will be good for 175 barrels per day. This is a good streak of luck for the Reno Company, and should the whole 1,200 acres of the Reno Land Company's tract be good oil territory it will yet be able to clear itself of the debt hanging over it.

The Daily Commercial.

FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1870.

THE article published herewith from the Lancaster Express, on the State Treasury and Mr. MACKEY's vault account, is rich in developments, and will repay a careful perusal. As Mr. MACKEY is understood to be on the track again for State Treasurer, a history of his administration becomes an interesting topic.

THE French cable has been transferred to the Western Union Telegraph, pursuant to an agreement entered into last January, and so ends what at one time was a chance for competition in ocean telegraphing. Other cables are to be laid, and ultimately in such numbers that no monopoly will have the capacity to swallow them all.

WHILE the strength of the insurgents in the island of Cuba is not as great as it was at one time, and while their operations are less active, if not less hopeful than awhile ago, it is undeniably true that the cause in the American Congress is stronger than ever. A recasting of the Cabinet, in consequence of its unsatisfactory policy, is thought by many not an improbable event at an early day. Mr. FISH's resignation is freely talked of in well-informed Washington circles.

A HARRISBURG letter written to the Beaver Radical expresses the conviction that the name of JOHN W. FORNEY will be urged for Governor before the next Republican convention of the State. He omits to add that it will be urged in vain. The writer proceeds to give a history of FORNEY's political career, just as though the people of the State were not already familiar and disgusted with it. Attempts like this to bolster up corrupt hacks only lead decent people to ask if the time will never come when the Republican leaders will cease to insult the masses in this way. CAMERON for United States Senator, FORNEY for Governor! Who is the next patriot on the list?

THE census takers are at work, or at least should be, throughout the United States. It is an important posting of the books as relates to everything entering into our national strength and character. Not the census takers alone have a work to perform, but the community at large, from whom the information to be put down must come. Great carelessness has in former times been the subject of complaint, and justly too. In the present instance, we feel assured, so far as our own quarter of the State is concerned, special care has been taken to guard against this. But all our citizens should hold themselves prepared to assist to secure a correct ascertainment of whatever the questions call for. Especially as to the population and statistics of our city and surroundings, it is to be hoped that there will be nothing to complain of.

CYRUS REDDING, whose death was announced in the cable dispatches in our issue of yesterday, has never been as well known in this country as he deserved to be. When liberal politics had few supporters in Great Britain among men of letters, Mr. REDDING was one of the small minority. Though a writer of many books, he was better known in Europe as a journalist than as an author, and the mere names of the newspapers and magazines founded by him would make a rather long list. For some years he lived in Paris and edited that oracle of Englishmen on the continent, Galignani's Messenger, and in London he was associated with CAMPBELL as one of the editors of the New Monthly Magazine and afterwards of the Metropolitan. He wrote many verses and CHRISTOPHER NORTH pronounced him a poet. Though a strictly sober man, he was curious in wines, and wrote a History and Description of Modern Wines. Memoirs of Remarkable Misers, in two volumes, is another of his works. His works, original and translations, are numbered by dozens. For some years he has been engaged in preparing a History of the last two wars between England and America. Mr REDDING was born in 1785.

PRECISELY what authority there is for the report that General GRANT will decline to reappoint Mr. WELLS Special Commissioner of Revenue, we know not, but hope it is sufficient. Mr. WELLS has tried his hand and has succeeded chiefly in bringing conspicuously before the country at different times some ideas of his own which have been applauded mainly in foreign countries, who seek to control our markets, and who do not help to pay our debt, at the expense of American capital and labor, which, if the debt is ever paid, must pay it. Mr. WELLS possesses a good deal of a certain kind of ability, but he has not succeeded in holding to the same views of political economy with which he started out, or given a sufficient reason for the change. His appointment at this time would be accepted as ranging the administration on the free trade side of the impending contest, which would be decidedly inconsistent with General GRANT's declarations and known views. His reappointment, moreover, would be insulting to Secretary BOUTWELL, whom Mr. WELLS has affected to look down upon as incapable of grasping the problem of revenue as connected with the national finances.

ONE would infer from the Democratic press, North and South, that all the Northern men in the late rebellious States were engaged solely in politics, and that filling their pockets out of the public crib was their only aim and occupation. There could not be a greater error, nor one which does the Northern character greater injustice. The leading merchants of New Orleans are men who, prior to the war, build and had their residences in the great Northwest, and the commercial activity which that city has displayed within the last few years is mainly due to the exertions put forth by such men as HIGBY, of Wisconsin, and BUSSE, of Iowa,—men who have strong and vigorous intellects linked to untiring perseverance, and the whole leavened with the genuine spirit of progress. Wherever you see the smoke of a factory or hear the whirr of machinery throughout the length and breadth of Dixie, be sure there is a Northern man in that immediate neighborhood. Of the eighteen cotton mills now in operation in the South there is but one—and that in Mississippi—which has not been built by Northern men, and is propelled by Northern capital. And yet the South only manufactured last year 64,998 bales, or about two and a half per cent. of the crop, while mills located in the Northern States have spun 767,512 bales, or thirty-two per cent. Of course English spindles turn out after all the lion's share. In a few years, however, through the agency of Northern emigrants, the South will ship her cotton in webs, instead of bales as now, and then the name of "carpet-bagger," in that sense will be glorified and made great.

MUCH comment, both in France and in this country, has been called forth by the vote of the French army on the occasion of the Plebiscite. Its vote stood forty-six thousand nays against two hundred and eighty-six thousand yeas! In the single barracks of Prince Eugene, at Paris, eleven hundred and twenty-one negative votes were cast against sixteen hundred and fifty-two affirmative. The Irreconcilables exult in the vote as an indication that the spirit of absolute devotion to the imperial cause, by which the soldiers were believed to be animated, has been encroached upon by the spirit of independence. Even the most zealous friends of the Emperor are reported to have been somewhat alarmed at first. And whoever reflects how a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump, and how much the tone of an entire brigade, or even an entire army is sometimes affected by the temper of a few soldiers, might naturally regard the circumstance as significant. An explanation of the considerable negative vote of the army has been given, which refers it to another cause than disaffection, or waning enthusiasm for the empire. We are assured that people who know the army allege that the opposition has been rather professional than political, and that it is the outcome of discontents caused by certain acts of injustice, by trammels thrown in the way of promotion, and lastly by an injudicious expression used by MARECHAL NIEL, who, one day, in reference to a remark of a deputy of the Left, said: "I only have the right to speak in the name of the army." The soldiers, offended at being spoken of as automatons, seized the opportunity of the Plebiscite to prove that they could speak for themselves and not in the words of their minister. Mr. GAILLARDET writes this explanation to the Courrier, and adds that it is not the first time the army has shown its independence. In 1851, it gave thirty-seven thousand votes against the coup d'etat, and on that occasion it voted by open registers, while on the 8th of May the vote was secret and entirely free. He means of course that the soldier could give his vote without disclosing whether it was yes or no. The thirty-seven thousand nays of 1851 did not prevent the army from faithfully serving the Emperor, nor would the forty-six thousand nays of 1870, he thinks, prevent it from doing its duty again should circumstances call for action. It was certainly good tact in the Emperor to treat the negative vote as not significant of disloyalty. He published a letter in which CANROBERT was enjoined to assure the generals, officers and soldiers that his confidence in them had never been shaken. And a few days after the vote, he and the Empress, in open carriage and without escort, paid a visit to the Prince Eugene barracks, where they were well received.

THE General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church yesterday appointed a committee to confer with a similar committee appointed by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, now in session in Philadelphia, on the subject of the organic union of the two bodies. A marked coldness had been developed among the United Presbyterians, in consequence of the failure of the committee previously appointed by the other bodies (the Old and New School Churches,) to attend the conference at the time appointed; but the very cordial and fraternal action of the General Assembly of the Reunited Presbyterian Church, (as given in the report of the proceedings of the United Presbyterian Assembly in another column,) was most warmly received and responded to, and the prospect for union between these large and influential bodies is most encouraging.

THE DUKE DE SALDANHA.

Portugal is clearly not open to the reproach of despising old age. The Duke of SALDANHA, the hero of the recent movement in that country, by which the ministry was changed, is nearly ninety years old, and the spirit with which he applies his wisdom to the events of his time, would have commanded the admiration of CATO himself. So long ago as in 1808, SALDANHA was a vigorous politician, and in the disturbances of that time, he took the side of the French against the patriots of his country and their English allies. The latter victorious carried him as a prisoner to England, where he remained until the restoration of peace. Then returning to Portugal, he soon became a member of the Cabinet as Minister of Foreign Affairs. In the civil war which soon commenced, he acquired great distinction among the supporters of MARIA DA GLORIA, and, though never believed to have much military genius, he got the chief credit for the achievements by which DOM MIGUEL was induced to renounce his pretensions to the throne. Presently SALDANHA himself conspired against the Queen whom he had done so much to establish on her throne. Failing in his enterprise, he was banished for nine years, but returning secretly to Portugal, by a successful military revolution, he secured for himself the control of the Government. In 1849, set aside by CABRAL, he came back to Lisbon two years afterwards, through an insurrection organized by himself. He was then ambassador in Rome for some years, and afterwards in Paris. While in the latter city he is said to have maintained friendly relations with the discontented elements in Lisbon and Oporto. At length, without asking for or receiving permission to leave his post, he made his appearance in Portugal and at once became the center of intrigues directed against the ministry of LOULE. This step was taken a few months ago. The LOULE ministry was not the representative of decided political opinions, but had been formed by a fusion of the various parties of the country. It had excited disgust by an unauthorized interference with elections, but a much more determined and dangerous disgust by reducing the salaries of many officers and civil servants in accommodation to the feeble condition of the public finances. Making himself the organ of the general discontent, SALDANHA attempted a demonstration for the overthrow of the ministry. By extraordinary vigilance and the co-operation of the army and navy this attempt was defeated. SALDANHA was ordered to resume his place at Paris. Instead of obeying, he resigned his post, and then published a statement in vindication of his late proceedings. In this statement the remarkable declaration was made that his acts had been approved by the King, and that, even in the Cabinet, the opinion prevailed that its President, LOULE, was not qualified to conduct the affairs of the nation. Both these allegations were strongly denied, but very extensively received as true. The public discontent became ever greater, and SALDANHA contrived to be always conspicuous as a veteran patriot who sympathized in the grievances of low salaries, violated elections and common misrule. The final result was the little revolution which took place last week, and which has made the wily, scheming old Duke Prime Minister. The explanation we have given does not satisfy all. Indeed many think that a plan of Iberian Union, or of uniting Spain and Portugal under one crown, has been at the foundation of the movement.

MR. BONNER is exceedingly sensitive to the reputation of his horses. In regard to Dexter in particular he is not willing that he shall be beaten even by hypothesis. A few days ago a New York editor, noted for his powerful logic and brilliant style, assumed for the sake of argument that "Dexter had been passed the other day in Harlem Lane by a scrub roadster." The owner at once stepped forth for the rescue of his horse's good name. If able editors are allowed with impunity to draw illustrations from living celebrities in so free and easy a way, pray where is it to end? The imagination is a daring faculty, and in search of figures has been known to dart from the kennel to Paradise, and from Paradise to the kennel. If Dexter or any other celebrity is to be used for any logical or rhetorical purpose, he must never be supposed to have done or suffered anything within the limits of possibility. The rule is absolute, and Mr. Bonner was justly offended at its violation. Besides, the lack of reverence for transdental horseflesh implied in the excessively familiar use of Dexter's name well merited rebuke. Thousands of gentlemen as good as the New York editor have taken off their hats to Dexter. Thousands have cheered him.

RECENT advices from the Sandwich Islands give a full report of the opening of Parliament by the King on April 30th. In his address to the legislative body the King, Kamehameha V., mentions the death of his father, Kekowanaoa, who was President of the Legislature, and was the husband of Kinaou, the daughter of Kamehameha I. The King asserts that during the past two years his people have increased in prosperity, that the crops have been abundant, and the markets good. He recommends subsidies to lines of steamers running among the islands, and also to ocean steamers. He states that the relations with all foreign governments are most satisfactory, and that the plan of obtaining immigrants from the Polynesian Islands after two expeditions had not proved successful. He also alludes to the finances of the Kingdom, and announces that the royal exchequer is in a healthy condition.

A VERY extraordinary proceeding took place on last Sunday in the African Zion Methodist Episcopal Church New York City. The pastor, Rev. W. F. Butler, was assailed in the pulpit by two of the Trustees, named Howard and Peiroe, and forcibly ejected. This occurred during the morning. The reverend gentleman returned to the Church in the evening but was refused admittance. As soon as this fact became generally known two-thirds of the congregation followed Butler and carried him into the chancel of the sacred edifice on their shoulders. The cause of the disturbance laid in the refusal of a number of the Trustees to acquiesce in the appointment of Butler to his present charge.

PERHAPS no other city in America has suffered as much as Quebec from conflagrations. The recent large fire in one of its suburbs—St. Roche—is the fourth within the last quarter of a century. In 1845 two extensive conflagrations occurred about one month apart, and on October 14, 1866, another fire destroyed seventeen churches and convents, 2,000 houses, and 20,000 persons were rendered homeless. The suburbs of Quebec are filled with wooden houses, and hence the fires are so disastrous. The recent fire swept away 500 houses.

THE New York World thinks St. Peter's day, the 29th of June, will be signalized by the solemn proclamation of Papal infallibility. While throwing doubt on all the rumors that reach us with regard to what is at present occupying the attention of the Council, the writer in question confidently asserts that the dogma has just been introduced, and that no great amount of debate will be elicited upon it, the Roman Church having arranged the whole affair to its own satisfaction.

The new general postoffice building in London will be one of the finest in England, and although entirely distinct, and, in fact, on the opposite side of the street, will be so connected underground with the old one that the two will practically form but one. The extreme length will be two hundred and eighty-six feet, and the depth one hundred and forty-four feet, with a height of eighty-four feet. There will be accommodation for nearly fifteen hundred officials. The architecture is said to be very fine, and the building will be a great improvement to that part of the city. By the terms of the contract, it is to be entirely completed by Christmas next year. It will then be, without doubt, the finest postoffice establishment in Europe.

A Paris correspondent of an eastern paper says: "The result of the recent international yacht race has again confirmed the supremacy of American vessels and builders. From all accounts it is clear that the Sappho could have sailed completely round her opponent; and, although all sorts of excuses are made for the latter, the triumph of the former was so complete that there was not the least difficulty in awarding her the prize. There is some sense in a contest like this, for beneficial practical results may ensue from it, and therein it differs widely from the Harvard and Oxford boat race, from which it would be difficult to extract anything good, either for those who took part in it or the outside world that looked on."

An old and infirm man named Thomas Addington called on an Overseer of the Poor in Minnesota, the other day, with six horses and other stock, valued at $1,500, which he desired the county to receive, and in return support him for the rest of his life. And push and punch the diaphragm as though the deuce was in it.

CHORUS.

The pharynx now goes up;
The larynx, with a slam,
Ejects a note
From out the throat
Pushed by the diaphragm.

A Washington report says there are fair indications that some kind of a bill for a road over the Southern route will be successful before the close of the present summer. To effect this, there will be a harmony of the various conflicting interests that have lately been developed. The joke was duly enjoyed, but the projector was much surprised shortly after to see copies of the picture in the windows of a print store, and, on inquiring of the attendant found, to his horror, that the sharp photographer had published it as "A remarkable picture of the moon."

George Francis Beck, aged seventy-two, is a German resident of Rondout, N. Y., and is said to possess a realty of $200,000. In 1844 he petitioned the New York Legislature, professing that in 1832, as a political refugee, he came to New York, leaving all his property with his wife, to whom he repeatedly wrote to join him here, but that he received no satisfactory answer, while in 1835 a letter from his brother-in-law contained certificates of her death.

In 1837 he married Jane Maria Deming, of Eddyville, and by her he has three children. He prayed, therefore, that the Legislature would legalize his second marriage, and give his children legitimacy. The prayer was granted.

For about a year past, Von Beck has been disposing of property, thus alarming his family. THE STATE TREASURY.

The Vault Account, and How Mr. Mackey Managed It.

[From the Lancaster Express.]

The organs of the Treasury Ring have for the past month been laboring with unusual zeal to bolster up the reputation of Mr. Mackey as a great financier and a perfect pattern of an honest and conscientious public officer. They take especial delight in lauding the "clean record" of their pet, to the disparagement of the present incumbent, General Irwin. When the latter took possession of the Treasury on the first instant, the central organ of the Mackey ring announced with a flourish of trumpets that "during Mr. Mackey's term of one year the reprehensible and illegal system of loaning the funds of the State to private individuals for their benefit has been abolished. The 'vault account'—which consisted of due bills of these parties—amounted one year ago to $211,000; to-day, there is no such account. The balance on hand is now $1,762,000, against $888,000 one year ago, and not less than $600,000, in round numbers, of our State debt has been paid off."

This key-note has been re-echoed by all the other organs of the ring, with all the changes which political ingenuity and hatred of Gen. Irwin could suggest, and recently the Pittsburgh Gazette, Mackey's home organ, published the receipts given by Mackey to Irwin, in 1869, and by Irwin to Mackey, in 1870, to prove that Mr. Mackey had abolished the "vault account," and is, therefore, entitled to the credit of making a "clean treasury."

Now, we have been at some pains to examine into the real merits of this claim set up in Mr. Mackey's behalf, by his over-zealous friends, and propose to show by the simple "logic" of facts and figures, which cannot be successfully disputed, that the retiring treasurer is entitled to no such credit as his friends claim for him, in abolishing the "vault account," and that so far from the large balance handed over to his successor being to his credit, it is the best possible evidence that he managed the finances of the State for the profit of himself and his friends, who constituted the ring which dragged him from comparative obscurity and placed him in the treasury as a convenient and willing instrument to promote their selfish schemes.

First, as to the vault account during the Mackey administration, the exhibit of which we have copied from the official record. On the second of May, 1869, Mackey took possession of the Treasury with a vault account of $211,303 99. At various periods during his administration it stood as follows:

May 2	$211,303 99	Dec. 6	$95,035 00
May 10	346,507 99	Dec. 11	282,040 00
May 31	356,502 99	Jan. 6	290,940 00
Aug. 14	431,119 00	Jan. 7	268,940 00
Sept. 7	471,189 00	Jan. 10	80,940 00
Nov. 29	445,879 00	Jan. 26	10,448 00
Nov. 30	20,075 00

It will be seen that Mr. Mackey's mode of "breaking up the vault account" and inaugurating "a clean treasury" was a peculiar and extraordinary process, quite worthy of so distinguished a financier! Eight days after he had possession, this account had increased from $211,303 99, (the amount received from Gen. Irwin) to $346,507 99. At the close of his first month it had increased to $356,502 99. It kept on increasing until on the 7th of September it had reached the sum of $471,189 00, considerably more than double what it was when he receipted to his predecessor; and on the 29th of November, (the day before the time fixed by law for the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, to make an investigation of the books, and from which the Auditor General derives the data for his annual report,) this vault account was more than double what it was when he took possession, (namely $445,789.) Just then, with the fear of the Commissioners and the Auditor General and his annual report before him, Mr. Mackey seems to have been seized with his first honest impulse to make "a clean record" of the vault account! Hence, we find that on that day, November 30th, this account was suddenly reduced to $20,075 00. The books give us a very clear idea of how this wonderful feat in financiering was so suddenly accomplished. We find that on that day the following deposits were made:

Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank, Philadelphia	$100,000 00
Allegheny National Bank	138,803 99
First National Bank, Harrisburg	187,000 00
	$425,803 99

This, with the $20,000 in the vault on the day the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund made their annual examination, made up the $445,000 which had been there the day before. The $100,000 sent to the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank was the equivalent of cash, being a railroad check, and so far as that was concerned it was a legitimate transaction. The $138,803 99 which was sent to Mackey's own bank, in Pittsburgh, and the $187,000 deposited in the First National Bank of Harrisburg, were a couple of "old soldiers", belonging to Mackey's vault brigade, which, after a very short furlough, granted to get them out of the way of Inspector General Hartranft, were promptly recalled as we shall presently see.

We find that on the 6th of December, six days after the examination by the Auditor General and the other Commissioners, the vault account had increased again to $95,035 00. Five days later, under the great financiering genius of Mackey and the Treasury roosters represented in the $187,000 of promises to pay, temporarily deposited in the First National, it had jumped up to $282,040 00, which was made up in this way:

In vault, Dec 6	$ 95,035 00
Checked from First National	187,000 00
	$282,035 00

On the 6th of January, 1870, the vault account had gone up to $290,940, and we have no means of knowing how much higher it would have gone, had not Mr. Mackey on the 7th been suddenly seized with another conviction of the necessity of going back to a "clean record." This conviction was brought about by the resolution passed that day by the Senate, instructing the Finance Committee, of which Mr. Billingfelt was chairman, to make an investigation into the management of the Treasury.

The first manifestation of this conviction was as peculiar as it was sudden. Although one of the loudest boasts of Mr. Mackey's friends is, that he was not elected by the aid of Democratic votes, we find that his first financial act of preparation for Mr. Billingfelt's investigation Committee, was to take $20,000 out of the vault and deposit it with Dougherty Brothers, a Democratic banking house in Harrisburg. Of course the "record" does not show the object of a deposit in this direction, but intelligent politicians will draw their own inferences.

On the 10th of January, the movements of the Investigation Committee began to look serious, and in the eyes of the great financier that "old soldier" of $187,000 in the vault again had a serious look also. The $138,000, got rid of on the approach of General Hartranft, was still out of the way in Mackey's own bank, but this $187,000 was in dangerous proximity to the "Adamstown Dutchman," and must be got rid of. In the meantime, Mackey had been subpoened, but asked for time, and made a hasty trip to Pittsburgh, the object of which we will leave for future elucidation in the light of certain recently discovered documents not immediately connected with this branch of the subject. On the 10th of January, we find the $187,000 was hid away as follows:

Deposited in First National Bank of Harrisburg	$150,000
Deposited in National Bank of Middletown	37,000
The same old rooster	$187,000

On the 12th of January, two days later, Gen. Irwin was elected Treasurer, to the great consternation and disgust of the Treasury roosters who had been so largely represented in this vault account; and this fact, together with the movements of the Investigating Committee, demonstrated to them the necessity of breaking up the vault account, with a view to creating a little political capital for the future operations of the Treasury ring. Hence, we find that on the 26th of January, one week before Mackey was to appear as a witness before the Investigating Committee, the account had been reduced to $10,448, and on the 31st to $8,440, as subsequently stated in his testimony before the committee.

The foregoing is a plain exhibit of how the Treasury "vault account" was broken up. Every intelligent reader can judge for himself how much credit for this result is due to Mr. Mackey, and how much to the ventilation of the Treasury corruptionists, the expositions of the Investigating Committee, and, finally, to the defeat of the "great financier" himself!

In another article we propose to show that this great financier redeemed over a million less of the public loan than had been redeemed by his predecessor, by which he was enabled to keep an enormous unexpended balance on hand for speculative purposes, whereas, if he had adopted Senator Billingfelt's policy a year ago, a vast amount would have been saved to the Treasury.

A BOSTON mantua maker has sued a prominent citizen of the "Hub" who refused to pay her nineteen hundred dollars for making enough dresses to last his wife three months. The trial began a few days ago, and is still in progress. As was to be expected, it has created no little stir among the people of fashion who are so often fleeced by milliners and dress makers, simply because they are known to have money enough to pay these extortionate bills when demanded. A Pittsburgh lady some time ago had a similar experience. People usually submit to this kind of thing unwilling to engage in a litigation which in its very nature would be provocative of scandal, but the Boston man seems to be determined to establish a precedent which will doubtless have a good effect upon the pockets of those who are forced to patronize extortionate mantua makers.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer is responsible for the following, which our readers will, of course, take with several grains of allowance: "One of the Russian singers at Pittsburgh, the other day, thought he had got far enough along in English to call for food at the table, and accordingly asked the lady at his side to pass him 'some kiss.' She blushed, and he repeated it with the unfortunate appendix, 'The same as you gave me this morning.' She rose from her seat with indignation, the boarders glared on the wretch who would thus flaunt his crimes, while he barely retained strength enough to get up and reach the desired viand. It was cheese."

MR. T. EVANS, in the current issue of the Overland Monthly, sets forth numerous facts to prove that California is improving as a gold producer, while all the other gold yielding countries are either declining or in their infancy. He says Africa has not contributed $1,000,000 annually for the last century; puts Southern Asia at $5,000,000, New Zealand at $3,000,000 and Australia at $22,000,000. Australian ledges which are considered paying, only yield $2 per ton, while ledges in California which yield from $3 to $9 per ton will not pay the cost of mining.

THE defeat the woman's movement sustained in Parliament the other day does not appear so disastrous when it is known that one-seventh of the members voted for it, and when it is remembered that this is the first occasion that a fair vote has been taken, it is certain that there is a strong and growing feeling in favor of the measure. From present appearances only such ladies as pay directly their proportion of the taxes will be given the ballot, and even this cannot be accomplished for some time.

THE INDIANS AND THE QUAKERS.

Report of the Quaker Agency—Information That is Tangible—Suggestions That are Sensible.

At the session of the Orthodox Friends in New York, on Monday, the Executive Committee on Indian Affairs submitted the following report: The Committee say that since they entered upon the important duties confided to them by the Government, nearly a year ago, they had found the Indian tribes degraded, starved and cheated by their former agents. They had done their best to reform the abuses, and they were glad to say had won the confidence of the Indians. To insure thoroughness in the work they had given orders to their agents to live upon or near the reservations of the Indians; not to engage in any other business, and to employ their whole time in working in some way for their advancement. Any agent disobeying these orders would be reported for discharge.

The following tribes, with their children and schools, were under the care of the Orthodox branch of the Society of Friends.

The Kickapoos, numbering 325, were living upon allotted lands in severalty. They had a mission school and were self-sustaining, many of them having small farms. They had made a treaty with the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad for the sale of their lands, not yet ratified, and which they did not wish to be ratified. The Potawatomies, over 2,000 in number, had one good school, under the control of the Roman Catholic Church, largely attended and well managed. It received from the Government $75 for each scholar per annum for board, clothing and tuition. About 650 of the tribe had become citizens of the United States. The tribe was self-sustaining and improving, many of them having large farms with fields of corn and wheat. The Kansas Indians, about 540 in number, were poor, and had been much neglected and abused by the former agents. They had a rich reserve in the valley of the Neosho river, said reserve being about fifteen miles in length. None of the children had been in school for several years. The Sacs and Foxes, about 700 in number, had one mission school and were self-sustaining. They would soon remove to the Cherokee country and disband their tribal organization. The Kiowas, Comanches and Apaches, were very difficult to deal with, being dissatisfied with their present treaty with the government. The Osage Indians were in a very deplorable condition, had been much neglected, their agent residing far from them. They had one school, supported by the Roman Catholic Church. The Miamis and Senecas were doing well, had one school, and were improving their farms. The Ottawas and Wyandottes and other small remnants of tribes were doing excellently. It was the committee's opinion that all the efforts of the Friends should harmonize with that of the United States in the advancement of the prosperity of the Indian tribes. The importance of education to the Indians could not be too highly estimated. Without it, Indian Christianity must be imperfect. They thought that all schools for the Indians should be on a systematic, thorough plan, and for the purpose of drawing up such a plan they had elected Friend Harvey Wright as a superintendent of schools, at a salary of $600 per annum. The Kickapoo Indians had two day schools, and a school fund of $2,000 per annum. The Potawatomies had a school fund of $9,000 per annum. The Friends had established a school for the teaching of the Indian women in household duties. The Indians preferred boarding schools to all others for their children, as then they were separated from their homes and soon forgot their nomadic life. The friends have furnished, during the past year, teachers for every new school as soon as established, and hoped in this way to do great good. The more the committee had become acquainted with the Indians, and become aware of the ease with which they could be governed when treated with honesty and kindness, the more responsibility they felt rested upon a Christian community for the cruel manner in which the Indians had been governed. The committee had appointed Dr. Wm. Nicholson, at a salary of $2,000 per annum, as General Superintendent for the Indians. The committee had felt the necessity greatly during the past year that no officer should be appointed to a post among the Indian tribes under the committee's control who was not in complete sympathy with the policy of peace pursued by the Friend's Society. Also, they felt the necessity of some general law excluding all persons from the Indian Territory who were not necessarily there as agents for the Indians. The committee had asked Congress for an appropriation of $20,000 for immediate use, and $100,000 for the next fiscal year, which had not as yet been granted, although there was a pressing demand for its use in supplying the Indians with farming utensils and seeds. The encroachment upon the Osage lands by squatters was a subject of great importance which had not been attended to by the Government. Upon the conclusion of the committee's report speeches were made by many of the Friends, expressing their satisfaction in the work done by their agents, and the hope that they would press on with it for yet another year. Denunciatory remarks were made concerning the rapaciousness of emigrants who seized upon Indian lands without even the form of law. If the Indians landed at Castle Garden they would be better off than in the possession of their present lands. Men were eager to annihilate them from the face of the earth, so that they could obtain possession of the Indians' land. Twenty thousand families to-day had settled upon the Osage lands who had not a shadow of legal right to their claims. The Friends had felt that they ought not to pay out all the money to keep the Indians at peace, and had asked Congress for an appropriation accordingly. And they had felt discouraged when they had heard that it was likely to be refused, and had indeed thought that if the money was not granted of withdrawing from the Indian country. If the money was not granted it would be construed as an indirect way of showing that Congress had no confidence in the Friends' Society. The Friends had already, by their action, prevented Indian wars which would have cost the country millions. The Friends were confident that the Indians could be subdued by peaceful means. They consider it a matter of public economy to thus deal with the Indians.

THE BLUE GRASS REGION.

Kentucky Crops, Stock, Politics, Men and Things.

LEXINGTON KY., May 30, 1870.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

I have been enjoying an extensive tour through the country, known as "the blue grass region." The finest farming country I have ever seen. This region includes the counties of Bourbon, Fayette and Woodford, and a part of Jessamine and Scott. The farms or plantations are large—embracing from three hundred to three thousand acres—each. The crops this season are very fine. Corn is late, but coming on nicely, wheat, rye and barley all looking well. Prospects for an abundant fruit crop. Hemp is a staple crop here, and one of the most profitable—twelve to fifteen hundred pounds to the acre is no unusual crop—which is worth at the present writing from nine to ten cents per pound—it is doing remarkably well the present season.

Some of the finest horses and cattle raised in the United States are raised here. Great attention is paid to secure the greatest speed in horses. Mules, hogs and sheep receive attention. The blue grass forms rich pastures for grazing, and the stock pasture in the fields nine months out of a year.

The negro appears to be peaceably disposed, and works well when he is paid for it. They receive from fifteen to twenty dollars per month for their services. Most of them are Republicans, and pretty well versed in political affairs. Last Thursday, 25th inst., I witnessed the decoration of the graves of the Confederate dead. Thousands of ladies and gentlemen visited the cemetery during the afternoon in their elegant equipages. The graves were well covered with crowns, wreathes and boquets of the richest and rarest flowers. Gen. Morgan's (guerrilla) grave received marked attention at the hands of the fair daughters who are friendly to the lost cause. Many prominent rebels were present, but no speeches were made. I noticed John B. Breckenridge, who appeared to be admired by all—Leslie Combs, Gen. Buford and many others of less notoriety. I had the pleasure of meeting Col. J. J. Miller, editor and proprietor of the Farmers' Home Journal, the most successful agricultural paper in the South. He has ever been a Union man, tried and true. I must close, as I am off for Louisville to be present at the decoration of the graves of our Union soldiers, which takes place this afternoon.

Yours, K. M. F.

AT West Rutland, Vermont, on Monday last, as a train of cars were leaving the depot, Chas. McKeough saw a man on the track. He whistled for the brakes and shut off steam. Seeing that the man paid no attention, McKeough kicked open the door or window of the cab and went to the front of the engine, near the head light, and, as the engine was about to strike the man, he caught him by the hair of his head and lifted him upon the engine under the head light, and held him there until the train could be stopped, which was not done until it had gone about twenty rods. His name was George Wise. He was deaf and did not hear the engine or whistle.

THE great chemist Bettendorf has found a test so minute that one part of arsenic in 1,000,000 parts of solution may be detected, and the presence of antimony does not affect it. To apply this test the suspected liquid is mixed with hydrochloric acid, until fumes are apparent. Chloride of tin is then added, and a basic precipitate, containing the greater part of the arsenic, as a metal, mixed with the oxide of tin, is thrown down.

NEW BRIGHTON, PA.

Memorial Day—The County Nominations—New Industrial Enterprise—Manufacture of Cutlery—Double Track on the Fort Wayne Road.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

NEW BRIGHTON, June 1st, 1870.

On last Monday there was quite an imposing turnout here of soldiers, accompanied by two brass bands, who marched out to the cemetery and decorated the graves of their fallen comrades with wreaths and flowers. A large concourse of citizens assembled to witness the ceremonies, and many shed fresh tears over the graves of their departed soldier friends. The day was propitious, and everything passed off harmoniously.

Last Saturday was the nominating election day in Beaver county, and the newly elected County Committee carried in the returns and reported in convention held in Beaver Court House yesterday afternoon, which resulted in nominating Michael Weyand, Esq., for Congress, who is an honest, honorable man, well worthy to represent the Twenty-fourth District. Dr. Shurlock, our present member of the Legislature, was renominated by only twelve votes majority, having over eight hundred votes against him as a rebuke for his treatment of Gen. Irwin last winter.

Samuel Mason & Sons have commenced the erection of a building for the manufacture of pocket, carving and butchers knive here, to be called the New Brighton Cutlery. The size of the building is one hundred and forty feet by forty feet, two stories high. They expect to employ from fifty to one hundred hands. As they are experienced workmen themselves, they will make none but the very best article, out of the best steel.

The Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway have commenced preparing the ground through this place for laying down a second track. Some of the property owners and residents on that street want to get damages for occupying so much of the street in front of their houses, and have employed a Pittsburgh lawyer to prosecute the railroad on their behalf, as all the Beaver county lawyers were honest enough to tell them the law was against them, and the only remedy was to apply to the Legislature for laws to suit their case. C.

AT the recent dinner of the Theatrical Fund, London, at which the Prince of Wales presided, the old Shakesperean question came up. Mr. Buckstone, the comedian, railed at "the insane passion for burlesque" of the present day, which he attributed to the multiplicity of theaters allowed to be erected. He lamented the degeneracy of the age, and alluded to the times when, as Charles Kemble had told him, "Schacksper"—as the tragedian pronounced it—always proved a strong attraction though everything else failed. Mr. Dion Boucicault naturally took up the cudgels in defense of the drama of the period. He said as the newspapers did not contain now such essays as Goldsmith's and Addison's, as the Academy did not so the drama of the time was peculiar to the show such pictures as Hogarth's and Reynolds's, age. The stage was no longer chiefly patronized by the rich, but was almost the sole recreation of the poorer classes. If their tastes are low, let us not be impatient, but improve them as fast as possible.

MR. TRACEY E. ROBERTS, a well known merchant of New York commenced an action some time ago for the purpose of recovering $100,000 from the Toledo and Wabash Railroad Company for personal injuries, which he claimed he had sustained by reason of the wrongful and negligent acts of the agents of the defendants. On Monday last the trial terminated in a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $6,000.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

THURSDAY EVENING, June 2, 1870.

Our local money market is rather quiet just now, with abundance of means for all legitimate trade. Rates are unchanged. For local stocks of good repute there is the usual demand for investments, at fair prices.

—Of the New York market the Tribune of yesterday says: Business has been very quiet to-day. Money is very easy, and the rates on call are 3 to 5 ₩ cent., according to the character of the securities offered. Many of the banks, if the plethora of money and the dullness in business at the Stock Exchange continue, will be troubled in making loans of their funds at any rate of interest whatever. First class commercial paper is readily taken at from 5½ to 7 ₩ cent.

—The World says: The stock market was irregular, but towards the close of the day prices generally improved. The features of the day were Ohio and Mississippi shares and Pacific Mail, in which a large business was transacted, and very high figures are predicted for these stocks. Reading and Lake Shore were active and advanced. The balance of the market was quiet. The more prudent operators, however, are doing nothing until the final action of Congress on the financial bills is known. The spasmodic action of the more reckless and impatient operators does not materially move the general market. Southern States securities were quiet and firm.

—The Supreme Court of Michigan decided last week, that under the Constitution of that State, taxes cannot be levied for the aid of railroads, nor can the Legislature authorize municipalities to do what it cannot do itself. The total amount voted by the towns and counties is about $6,000,000. The Legislature will probably, in extra session, submit an amendment to the Constitution making valid tha bonds.

—In the gold market the fluctuations are not very marked, the prices ranging from 114½ to 114¾.

—Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co., report the following quotations of Government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cooke & Co., their correspondents:

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
THURSDAY EVENING, June 2, 1870.

BUSINESS—We have no improvement to notice as relates to prices or demands. The dull season has been fairly inaugurated although for certain articles there is a decidedly better demand than for others. This, however, is always the situation of affairs at this season of the year. Business will be restricted to the wants of the home market, and large transactions will be few and far between. Produce—The market contains an ample supply of the various kinds. Bacon and provisions—We can report a fine market with an active demand for jobbing purposes. Holders are in the best possible humor at the strength and tone of the market. Country meat appears scarce; a nice clear article would bring good prices. Groceries—We can report a fair amount of activity. Sugars are excited and advancing in the Eastern markets. Prices here will soon follow suit. The season has been a long and active one—the sales being the largest for many years. Butter—The market was dull; the supply exceeds the demand; prices continue weak with a downward tendency. Eggs steady, but prices have undergone no change. The following are the wholesale prices, unless otherwise noted:

APPLES—The market was quiet for the best of all reasons—there was no stock on hand. The season is about over. There are no fixed prices. A strictly prime article would command high prices.

ASHES—The market was steady but not very active. Dealers confine their purchases to lots sufficient to meet their current wants at the following: Soda ash: common 4c; refined 4½c; potash 7¼@7½c; pearls 9@9½c ₩ ℔.

BEANS—Market dull and prices nominal, with a supply in excess of the demand; prices vary from $1 50@1 75 ₩ bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—We have nothing new to note as regards prices or demands; sales apples at 5@6½c; peaches, quarters, 6@7c; halves 8@9c.

CARBON OIL—The demand was light and sales were of a similar description in a jobbing way, at 24c for good standard brands.

CHEESE—The market contains an ample supply of the various descriptions. Sales of Ohio Goshen at 15@15½c; New York Goshen, 17c; Ohio factory, 14@14½c; Hamburg 13@14c ₩ ℔.

SOAPS—Babbitt's 11½c; Oakley's 10½c; chemical olive 7½c; No. 1 rosin 5½c.

SAPOLIO—Enoch Morgan's Sons 6 doz case $7 00.

COOPERAGE—Sales of pails $2 35; Tubs—No. 1 $11 00; No. 2 $9 50 and No. 3 $8 50. Market well supplied.

STRAW—The market is without change; we are reported sales at $13 ₩ ton.

PEARL BARLEY—Sales of No. 4 at 5½c ₩ ℔; No. 3 5¾c; No. 1 6¼c; oatmeal A and B, ₩ barrel 200 ℔s $10; half barrels of 100 ℔s at $5 50.

EGGS—The receipts continue liberal; prices are weaker with a declining tendency. We quote nominally at 18@19c ₩ doz.

HOMINY—The market was inactive. The demand being limited sales were of a similar description; prices ranging from $6 00@6 50 ₩ barrel.

CORN MEAL—Nothing doing worthy of notice; sales were reported at 95c@$1 ₩ bushel.

BROOM CORN—Market dull and prices unchanged, with sales at 13@16c ₩ ℔.

FISH—We have no change to note in regard to fish. The demand was moderate and sales were of a similar description, the local demand being well maintained at the following: No 1 mackerel $26@29 ₩ bbl; No 2 large $17; No 3 large $14½; No 3 medium $11; in half bbls 50c additional. In kitts—No 1 $3; No 2 $2 50; No 3 $2. Lake herring $4 40; white fish $8 50. Baltimore herring $8 50. Codfish 5c ₩ ℔.

BAKING POWDER—Banner, ¼-℔ cans, $1 75 ₩ dozen; ½-℔ cans $3 25; 1 ₩ cans, $6 00 per dozen.

BUTTER—The market was not an active one. The supply continues to exceed the demand. Prices, however, have undergone no quotable change. We are reported sales of fresh roll at 15c, 18@20c—the latter figures for a choice article.

BACON AND PROVISIONS—The firmness we have previously noted continues with a good jobbing demand. The extraordinary high prices of fresh meats have been very beneficial to bacon dealers generally. We are reported sales at the following: Shoulders 13½@14c for plain, 15¼@15½c for sugar cured do; sides, ribbed 16¼c, clear short rib 17¼c, clear do 17¾c; breakfast bacon 18½c; clear B bacon 19½c; sugar cured hams, canvassed, 20¾@21c.

FLOUR—The market was a firm one with a good trade demand; this, however, has been the situation of the market for some time; the receipts fell off to 262 bbls; the market contains an ample supply of the various brands. New York Metal Market.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The demand for Scotch pig has partially subsided, but as the receipts have again fallen off, and the stock is light, the market has assumed a firmer tone, the sales are 300 tons Eglinton at $34 from dock and $35 from yard, and 300 do Glengarnock, $35 50@36 00 from yard. American remains without animation, and prices have a softening tendency; we have only to notice a sale of 50 tons No. 1 Allentown at $33 25. There is an active inquiry for both new and old rails, and prices are steady at our quoted rates; the sales are 400 tons 50-℔ English at $61 50 gold, and 70 do American, on private terms. From store, refined bar continues in only moderate request at previous quotations. We hear that the Philadelphia makers are taking some orders at $75 ₩ ton, delivered, and this is about the cost of Enlish laid down here, in store.—Shipping List.

New York Wool Market.

June 1.—The market remains dull for all descriptions, with a weak tone; values have settled down to about where they stood at the beginning of the year, and the prospect of an early improvement is not encouraging. Manufacturers stand ready to purchase, but with cloths selling, for the most part, without profit, they want concessions, and in some instances, where dealers are anxious to close out stocks, they are accommodated. Sales 75,000 ℔s domestic fleece at 42@50c, including 10,000 ℔s scoured, 57@70c; 10,000 ℔s Western and State, 42@46c; 2,500 ℔s Michigan, price reserved; 15,000 ℔s X and XX Ohio, 48@50c; also 25,000 ℔s pulled, 38@40c for super and extra, and 61c for choice Mestiza; 15,000 ℔s Texas, 22@27c; 50,000 ℔s California, 22@22½c for fall, and 27@29c for spring clip.—Shipping List.

Wool in Beaver County.

WOOL.—There has been but little movement in wool thus far this season, washing and shearing having but just closed. So far as we can learn, none of the wool buyers of Pittsburgh have commenced operations, and the prices and range of operations are considerably mixed. The impression among dealers is gaining strength that prices are likely to rule lower than last year; one strong argument in support of this theory being the stagnated and very unsatisfactory condition of the woolen goods market. It is believed that there is less wool in the hands of growers than for several years past, and the stocks in the Eastern markets are pretty well reduced, but, as already intimated, the woolen goods trade is very dull, and this, of course, will have its influence upon the wool market, as the one must of necessity sympathize with the other. It is very difficult to give quotations, though buyers are inclined to the opinion that the market will open at 35@40c, possibly 42c, for the different grades. As we have already stated, there has no wool changed hands in this section of the country, and it is supposed that there will not be much done until late in the season, as growers will not feel like selling at the prices.—Beaver Argus.

THE Steubenville Herald says: The decrease in the number of sheep in this county, during the past year, as the result of the low price of wool, is unprecedented. From returns of assessors just made to the auditor's office, we are able to present the following:

Number of sheep in the county,	1869	182,312
"	1860	140,114
Decrease		42,268

Juniata	Brennan	Cincinnati.

MONONGAHELA—Three feet six inches by marks.

THE marks last evening indicated three feet six inches by the pier, although there is four feet water at the shoalest point. The Juniata came up drawing the latter amount, and expressed no trouble. She left last evening with a good trip. The Granite State was expected last evening. She returns to-day at 4 P. M. for Wheeling, Marietta, Parkersburg and Portsmouth.

THE steamer Kate Putnam passed Louisville on Tuesday en route for this city.

THE steamer Great Republic passed Cairo on Tuesday en route for New Orleans.

THE Mollie Ebert was at Louisville on Tuesday but was unable to pass over the falls.

THE towboat James Gilmore was at Cairo on Tuesday.

THE powerful towboat Mary Davage, Capt. Motherel, is announced for Cairo and St. Louis, and will have dispatch.

THE steamer Juniata left for Cincinnati with a fair trip. She experienced no difficulty in her upward trip. Captain Brennan expects to run for some time yet.

THE new and splendid steamer Granite State, Capt. Kerr, takes her departure this day at 4 P. M. for Portsmouth and way points. Passengers and shippers would do well to bear this in mind.

THE fine passenger steamer Wauanita, Capt. J. B. Conway, takes her departure this day for Evansville, Cairo and St. Louis. For speed, accommodations and attentive officers this boat stands at the head of the list. Mr. James Rees, Jr., does the honors in the office.

THE punctual packet Petrolia, Captain Harlan, takes her departure this day at 12 M. for Wheeling and intermediate ports. Mr. Caldwell, who has charge of the office, will see that passengers are well cared for.

CHANGED THEIR HOUR OF DEPARTURE.—The United States Mail packets on the Slackwater have changed their hour of departure. The morning boats leave at 8 A. M., the evening boats at 5 P. M. These boats have superior accommodations, and are in charge of careful and attentive officers. For further information apply to Captain A. S. Carlile, on the wharfboat.

IT will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that Messrs. J. B. Sneathan & Co., the agents for the American Oakum Works, have made an arrangement and will hereafter keep a large stock of English Oakum on hand, which they import direct from the manufacturer, and will supply their customers at a small profit above first cost. This will be an important consideration for boatmen and boat builders. We know this firm as reliable business-men, who will perform all they promise to the letter.

THE Cincinnati Gazette says: "A case of much interest to steamboatmen came before the Superior Court of this city yesterday. Mary B. Lawton, as administratrix of her husband's estate, has brought suit against Capt. James H. Maratta and others for the recovery of $5,000 damages on account of the loss of her husband by the sinking of the Emma No. 3, of which the defendants were owners, in the Mississippi river. There is a statute in this State under which a suit to recover for such a loss may be brought by the widow or next of kin, when the accident occurs in the State. Upon a motion to make the petition in this case more definite, Judge Storer ruled that evidence must be presented to show that the accident occurred in the State, or plaintiff could not recover under the statute."

CARD.—At a meeting of the excursionists on board the steamer Granite State, May 21st, 1870, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That Capt. W. H. Kerr and his gentlemanly officers and crew merit, and we hereby tender our thanks for their unceasing efforts to make the excursion from Portsmouth to Pittsburgh and return, one of great pleasure. And that we heartily recommend the steamer Granite State to the patronage of the general public.

Resolved, That the thanks of the excursionists are hereby tendered to the Union Cornet Band of Ironton, under the leadership of L. P. Ort, for the music discoursed on this occasion.

Resolved, That the Secretary furnish copies of the proceedings of this meeting to Portsmouth, Ironton, Gallipolis, Middleport, Pomeroy, Parkersburg, Marietta, Wheeling and Pittsburgh papers.

Committee.—Portsmouth—George B. Miller and E. E. Steadman; Ironton—E. M. McMillen; Gallipolis—John C. Vanden; Middleport—Rev. H. H. Farris.

On motion adjourned.

E. DELETOMBE, Chairman.

DAVID ELICK, Secretary.

UNITED PRESBYTERIANISM.

Meeting of the U. P. General Assembly.

EIGHTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Union With the Presbyterian Church—Conference Committee Appointed—The Farewell Dinner—Resolutions of Thanks—Reports on Missions, Church Extension, Education, Psmalmody, &c., &c.

The Assembly met at nine o'clock on Thursday morning, and spent half an hour in devotional exercises, under the direction of Rev. J. L. Purdy.

Rev. D. Paul opened the business session with prayer.

ACTION OF THE ASSOCIATE SYNOD ON THE TRANSFER OF PROPERTY.

Rev. R. H. Pollock submitted the action of the Associate Synod on the transfer of the property of that body to the Associate Assembly. It recommends that the Treasurer of the Board of Trustees the Associate Synod be directed to pay over to the Treasury of the Board of Trustees of the United Presbyterian General Assembly, the accrued rents and interest of the Speer estate, and hereafter those rents and interests as they may accrue, to be employed one-third to Home Missions and two-thirds to be given to the Board of Education, to be disposed of in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Board. The proceeds of the Morris estate to be paid over to the Westminster College, after deducting expenses of suit, etc.

The paper was referred to the Committee on Finance and Education.

On motion Dr. Black was added to the Committee on Education.

UNION WITH THE REUNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The following letter, covering the action of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, was read:

PHILADELPHIA, May 31, 1870.

Rev. T. S. Kendall, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Reunited Presbyterian Church:

DEAR SIR: By appointment of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, I have the pleasure of transmitting to you herewith an official copy of the action of said Assembly at its present session in Philadelphia, on the subject of organic union with the United Presbyterian Church. Permit me to assure you of the fraternal regards of the Presbyterian Church, and to express the hope that the desire for organic union thus expressed will be cordially reciprocated by the Assembly over which you have the honor to preside.

The following persons constitute the committee contemplated in the resolution of the General Assembly, viz: Rev. Cyrus Dickson, D. D., Rev. Herrick Johnson, D. D., Rev. R. D. Harper, D. D., Wm. Bakewell, Esq., and Richard Edwards, Esq.

With great regard, your obedient servant,

R. D. HARPER.

"Reciprocating the Christian salutations so cordially expressed by the delegate from the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America; regretting as we do that the committee previously appointed to confer with a similar committee from the United Presbyterian Church on the subject of organic union, were unable to attend at the time appointed, and desirous as we are not merely to cultivate the most fraternal relations, but if possible to secure organic union with a church so closely allied with us in faith and practice; therefore,

"Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to meet with a similar committee from the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church to confer with respect to organic union between these churches, to report the result of said conference to the next General Assembly."

The paper was referred to the committee to nominate a committee on conference.

Rev. Mr. Owens submitted the report of the Committee on Statistics. The committee state that statistical tables in the authorized form have been received from every Presbytery in the church, except the missionary Presbyteries of Egypt and Lealkote, and from these two missions statistics have been received. A good number of these tables have been prepared with care and accuracy, but very many of them, perhaps the majority, exhibit blemishes and inaccuracies which the committee believe to be unnecessary and inexcusable. The committee recommend greater care in the preparation of these statistics hereafter. The report was adopted.

THE VOTE ON OVERTURES.

The Clerk presented the report of the committee appointed to count the vote on overtures. The report was referred to the Committee on Psalmody.

HOME MISSIONS.

The report of the Committee on Home Missions, as submitted by Rev. R. Armstrong, was then taken up. It is as follows:

The Home Mission work is, in the judgment of your committee, the great work of the church. The field to be occupied is extensive and inviting, and upon the energy with which it is cultivated depends, under God, not only the extension of the church at home, but also the success of missions in the foreign field. The more efficiently the home field is cultivated, the more the church will be able to do abroad.

From an examination of the report of the Board, it appears that this extensive and ever increasing field has been cultivated with a good degree of energy and success during the year now drawing to a close. The church, it would appear, is being more than ever impressed with the importance of the home field; hence her liberality to this Board during the present year. It is gratifying to find that all the claims against the Board, up to April 1, 1870, have been met, and that there is still a small balance in the treasury. This speaks well for the church and also for the economy and wisdom of the Board. True, indeed there is but a small sum in the treasury to meet the claims of the last quarter of the current year; yet it is hoped that enough will be paid into the treasury during the sitting of the Assembly to enable the Board to meet promptly the claims as they become due. Your Committee would recommend for adoption the following resolutions:

1. That this Assembly records its grateful thanks to Almighty God for the measure of success which has attended the labors of our missionaries during the present year.
2. That the action of the Board in the appointment of missionaries, and in the appropriation of money for the coming year, be confirmed.
3. That when an appropriation is made to a place in which there is a settled minister, it be regarded as "on condition of settlement," and ceases when the relation is dissolved.
4. That the Executive Committee for the coming year shall consist of Revs. J. T. Pressly, D. D., J. G. Brown, D. D., and A. G. Wallace, together with Messrs. Andrew H. Bryce, S. Mahood, James McCutcheon and R. A. Cunningham—Mr. A. H. Bryce to act as treasurer.
5. That a Committee consisting of Revs. A. G. Wallace, D. M. B. McLean, J. G. Brown, D. D., and the Corresponding Secretary, be appointed to revise the regulations of the Board, and report to the Assembly next year.

The first resolution was adopted without discussion.

A very warm debate opening up on the second resolution, growing out of the fact that the Committee had refused to recommend an appropriation of $150 to the African Mission at Monmouth, Illinois. The refusal of the Committee was based mainly on the fact that the mission only embraced a membership of twelve persons, and that there was nothing to prevent these twelve from joining with the other United Presbyterian congregations in that place.

A motion to grant an appropriation of $150 to the African Mission at Monmouth was then made and adopted.

The second motion, as amended, was then adopted.

The third, fourth and fifth resolutions were adopted without debate, and the whole report was adopted as amended.

Rev. D. S. McHenry, Chairman of the Committee on Home Missions, then reported in regard to the application for a missionary at Delta, Walla Walla county, Washington Territory, with a resolution appointing Mr. S. M. Hood to that field for one year, and appropriating $500 for his support, with the understanding that the persons petitioning raise an additional $500. The resolution was adopted.

THE JEWISH MISSION.

The report of the Committee on Jewish Mission, as already reported, was called up. It recommends the continuance of brother Tries as missionary among the Jews in New York.

The qualifications of Mr. Tries were freely discussed, all admitting that he was a very earnest worker, and a very pious man, but lacking in some other qualifications. One member stated that he lacked prudence, and another that he was deficient in common sense. Instances were given of the peculiarities and idiosyncracies of Mr. Tries, as tending to show his unfitness for the mission work.

The report was discussed at considerable length, but the Assembly refused to amend it, or lay it upon the table.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Rev. David Paul, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Missions, to which was referred the report of that committee, to prepare a resolution in harmony with the action of the Assembly, submitted the following:

Resolved, That persons who may desire to make an effort for particular missionary purpose, be requested to do so only after consultation with the Board.

Mr. McGay moved to amend by adding "with the understanding that whenever any moneys or goods are donated for special purposes, that they shall be applied in accordance with request of the donors." The amendment was not agreed to.

The original resolution was then adopted as read.

The preamble to the Report on Foreign Missions, together with the report itself, was then finally adopted.

Adjourned with prayer by Rev. Mr. Hays.

The Last Dinner—Resolutions of Thanks—Speeches, etc.

The Committee on Entertainment gave their last dinner to the Assembly yesterday, it being understood that the labors of the body could be brought to a close before noon to-day. The bill of fare was a most excellent one, and the dinner was served in admirable style. The following is the bill:

Roast—Beef, Veal, Lamb, Chicken, Beef a la mode.

Boiled—Chicken, Salmon (Holland Sauce,) Roast of Lamb (Parsley Sauce,) Lamb (Mint Sauce,) Giblets, Chicken Patty.

Baked—Barbecued Salmon.

Vegetables—Potatoes, Corn, Asparagus, Peas, Tomatoes, etc., etc.

Dessert—Peach Pie, Rhubarb Pie, Pound Cake, Lady Cake, Ice Cream and Strawberries.

RESOLUTIONS OF THANKS.

When dinner was ended, and before the members left their seats, the Rev. J. R. Johnston, of Washington, Pennsylvania, offered the following:

The members of the General Assembly having enjoyed the generous hospitality and kind attentions of their friends in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, as exhibited in their homes, their churches, and in Mozart Hall, where dinner has been provided for them during the past seven days, would express their appreciation of our gratitude for all these friendly favors by the adoption of the following resolutions:

1. That we are deeply grateful to the members of the United Presbyterian Churches in Pittsburgh and Allegheny for the kind welcome they have given us, and for the liberal attention and courteous manner in which they have contributed to our necessities and comforts, assuring them, also, that the labors and care connected with the transaction of business have been lightened and sweetened by their considerate generosity.
2. That we are under obligation to Messrs. Hammer & Sons who have gratuitously given the use of Mozart Hall, in which these tables have been spread, and to Mr. W. H. Simpson, the accomplished caterer, who has so abundantly furnished them.
3. That our special thanks are due and are hereby tendered to the committee who have furnished us the daily dinners in this place, and to the ladies who have so actively assisted in their management, hoping that while these ladies have been "troubled about many things" they may yet enjoy the blessings of having "chosen the good part which shall not be taken away from them."
4. That returning to our homes we will carry away with us and retain the pleasantest recollections of our Assembly sojourn among their friends in Pittsburgh.
5. That while we hardly think these friends, having entertained us as "strangers," have "thereby entertained angels unawares," we yet feel authorized to assure them of the hope contained in the promise that he who gives to a disciple a cup of cold water in the name of a disciple shall in no wise lose his reward.
6. That acknowledging God to be the giver of every good and perfect gift, we earnestly thank Him for "filling our mouths with good things," and for raising up around us so many generous friends, and that we now, as always, call up our souls and all that is within us to be stirred up to magnify and bless His great and holy name.

SPEECHES.

Rev. Mr. Johnston, in moving the passage of the resolutions, suggested that some remarks from the Moderator would be in order.

The Moderator responded expressing, on behalf of the Assembly, their thanks for the hospitable manner in which they had been entertained. The supplies were not only bountiful in quantity, but excellent in quality. The strongest evidences of the thanks of the guests were found in the ample justice which they had done to the numerous feasts spread before them. [Applause.]

Short and happy speeches were then made, on calls from the audience, by Rev. A. G. Wallace, Rev. W. C. Jackson, Rev. A. M. Black, D.D., Rev. John Douglass, D.D., and Rev. W. J. Reid, pastor of the church in which the Assembly met.

The question was then called for, and the resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Afternoon Session.

The Assembly met at 2 o'clock. Prayer by Rev. Mr. Alexander.

Mr. Wm. Getty, on behalf of the Finance Committee, reported resolutions thankfully accepting the generous appropriation of the proceeds of the Speer estate, and directing the Board of Trustees to pay over to the Board of Education two-thirds of said proceeds, and that the remainder be appropriated—two-fifths to Home Missions and three-fifths to Foreign Missions. Adopted.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

The Clerk read the report of the Committee on Church Extension, with resolutions:

1. Referring the request of Steubenville Presbytery to the Board of Church Extension.
2. That a Corresponding Secretary to the Board be elected.
3. That his duties be similar to those of the Secretaries of other Boards.
4. That the Secretary be a corresponding member of the Board of Home Missions, and the Secretary of the latter Board be a corresponding member of the Board of Church Extension.
5. That the Secretary's salary be $200 per annum.
6. That —— be chosen such Secretary.
7. That the Board revise its rules and report to the next Assembly.
8. That these revisions be made so as to secure larger contributions to this fund; and that the assistance given congregations be a donation, or loan, in whole or in part, as circumstances may require.
9. That all pastors be requested to press the claims of this fund upon the church, as occasion offers.
10. That $20,000 be appropriated to the Board the ensuing year.
11. That Rev. W. J. Reid and Elders John Taggart and John Hopkins, whose terms expire, be re-elected.

Rev. A. G. Wallace was unanimously chosen Corresponding Secretary of the Board, after which the report was adopted.

THE CHICAGO MISSION.

The Committee on Home Missions made a supplemental report, approving the action of the Chicago Mission in commencing the erection of a house of worship, and recommending the agent of that mission to all friends of the United Presbyterian Church. The report was adopted.

REPORT ON PSALMODY.

The Report of the Committee on Revision of the Psalms was called up, and read by the chairman, Dr. J. S. Easton. It recommends the passage of resolutions providing—

1. That the corrections and emendations be referred to a committee consisting of Dr. T. Beveridge, Rev. R. T. Ewing, J. R. Johnston, J. T. Hutchinson and S. Collins, to embody them as their judgment may dictate, in a collection of versions, to be published as soon as possible.
2. That this Assembly concur with the recommendations of the Committee, except in regard to Psalm 6, 8s and 7s, and agree to strike out or rescind the action of former Assemblies adopting the following versions, viz: Psalms 20, C. M.; 39 L. M., 6 lines; 43 L. M.; 89 L. M.; 137, L. M., and 146 L. M. 6 lines, as either altogether unnecessary or not as faithful translations as others that have been adopted, or as faithful as can be made of these Psalms, and that the Committee be directed to carry out this in preparing the new book for publication.

The Committee suggest that the approved versions be sent down to the Presbyteries for their further inspection, but offer no resolution on the subject. They also recommend that the work of preparing new versions be discontinued for the present.

3. The committee, having examined the thirty-three new versions prepared, recommend: That excepting the versions of 32d L. M. and 7th 10s, they be sent down in overture to the Presbyteries, to report their judgment "yea" or "nay," to Dr. Beveridge, not later than December 1, 1870, and that they regard all having a majority of two-thirds as adopted. That the committee incorporate those which may be adopted with the new versions already approved. That the committee, with the Board of Publication, publish an edition of the present version when amended as proposed above, with the new versions inserted in their proper places. That the Board of Publication publish the overtured versions as speedily as possible and transmit a sufficient number of copies to supply the ministers and elders of each Presbytery.

On counting the votes on the last Psalms in overture, the committee find all to have the requisite majority except the 12th, 14th, 15th and 28th, and report a resolution adopting them with the exceptions named.

The report of the committee was discussed at some length, and all the recommendations were finally adopted.

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE WITH THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Committee to nominate a committee to confer with a similar committee of the Presbyterian General Assembly, on the subject of organic union with the United Presbyterian Church, named the following persons: Rev. John H. Brown, D. D., Rev. J. B. Dales, D. D., Rev. Wm. J. Reid and Elders Wm. M. Gormley and Thomas Swaney.

Dr. Dales, at Dr. Brown's request, was made Chairman of the Committee.

Rev. Mr. Armstrong thought it discourtous to the old Committee to name an entirely new one. He thought that Committee had done its duty, and should not be slighted.

Rev. Mr. Brownlee moved that the old committee be substituted for the one just named. Adopted.

The names of the old committee are: Rev. J. T. Pressly, D. D., D. R. Kerr, D. D., Rev. W. Davidson, Rev. James Harper, and Rev. Alex. Young.

Dr. Brown thought the elders should be represented on the committee, and moved to substitute two elders for the two ministers last named.

After some discussion the action was reconsidered, and the committee was constituted as follows:

Rev. J. T. Pressly, D. D., Rev. D. R. Kerr, D. D., Rev. W. J. Reid, and Elders Wm. M. Gormley and George M. Reed.

DR. BEVERIDGE.

Dr. Easton moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Beveridge for his services in revising the Psalms, and that $1,000 be paid him for his work. Adopted.

SABBATH SCHOOLS.

The report on Sabbath Schools was taken up, further discussed, and finally adopted.

REPORT ON PUBLICATION.

Rev. J. M. Henderson presented the report of the Committee on Publication, with the following resolutions: 1. That the conduct of the Board the past year be heartily approved. 2. That $6,000 be appropriated for the ensuing year. 3. That James McCandless, Esq., Rev. J. G. Brown, D.D., and Rev. J. H. Boyd be re-elected, and that Rev. Wm. Fulton and Mr. Thos. McCance be elected in the room of Rev. J. S. Hawk and Mr. C. Arbutnnot. 4. That the people be urged to contribute more liberally to the Board in time to come.

The report was adopted.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The report on education, previously noted, was then taken up. A discussion ensued on the resolution withholding aid from beneficiaries who enter into the marriage relation. Several members spoke against the resolution, on the ground that it seemed to discourage marriage on the part of students of theology.

Rev. Mr. Campbell offered the following amendment: "That aid extended to students be not increased because of their entering into the marriage relation." Adopted.

After some further discussion, this part of the report was laid on the table.

The series of questions proposed to be put to students applying for aid were discussed, and the remainder of the report adopted.

Rev. Mr. Wallace moved to take up the resolution laid on the table, and substitute the following: That in case a beneficiary enters the marriage relation, aid may be continued or not at the discretion of the Board. Adopted, and the report as amended finally adopted.

Adjourned to meet at half-past seven o'clock. Prayer by Rev. Mr. McCullough.

Evening Session.

The Assembly met at half-past seven o'clock, and was opened with prayer by Rev. Alex. Smith.

A resolution was adopted requesting other Evangelical bodies to unite with the Railroad Committee of the Assembly in their efforts to secure reduced railroad fare over the different railroads for delegates.

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARIES.

Rev. J. A. Bailey presented a report from the Committee on Education, relating to the transfer of the Theological Seminaries from the care of the Synods to the General Assembly, and recommending that the location of the Seminaries be determined by the Assembly, who shall also arrange the time and course of study, fix the number of professors, the amount of salaries, etc. The paper was adopted, and a motion was passed to notify the Trustees of the Seminaries of this action.

BILLS AND OVERTURES.

The Committee on Bills and Overtures reported as follows:

	Yeas.	Nays.	Not Voting.
Overture No. 1	127	536	65
Overture No. 2	549	59	21
Overture No. 4	198	185	21
Overture No. 5	208	245	21
Overture No. 6	69	69	13

Overtures Nos. 1, 5 and 6 are therefore rejected, and Nos. 2 and 4 are adopted.

The first overture refers to the marrying of a deceased wife's sister. The article of the Confession of Faith on this subject is, according to the vote, retained as it is.

The same committee reported on the memorial of the Presbytery of Le Claire, in regard to the frequency of overtures, and recommending that they be discontinued. Report adopted.

PAPAL BAPTISM.

The report on Papal baptism was called up as unfinished business. The last amendment, as announced by the Clerk, was to hand the paper down to the Presbyteries for information.

The previous question was called on this amendment, and the vote resulted: Yeas, 46; nays, 51. Lost.

The main question, "That in the judgment of this Assembly Papal baptism should not be recognized as valid," was then put. The vote stood: Yeas 77, nays 19. So the question was decided carried.

Dr. Brown stated that while he would acquiesce in the action, the Assembly should have taken time to consider so important a question, and have given to the world their reasons for the utterance. He predicted that they would be assaulted on the right hand and the left for the declaration just made.

A member suggested that Dr. Pressly's argument be published in connection with this action of the Assembly.

Rev. Mr. Blair stated that those who opposed this action placed themselves in the position of admitting the validity of Papal baptism, and if they did they might as well admit the validity of all the ordinances of the Romish church.

Rev. Dr. Black and Rev. Mr. Pollock expressed themselves as decidedly against this action at this time.

The Moderator decided this debate all out of order.

A motion was then made to reconsider.

A motion was made to lay the motion to reconsider on the table. Lost.

The debate was continued pro and con for some time, and the previous question being called on the motion to reconsider, the motion was adopted without a division.

A motion was then made to recommit the paper to the Committee, to report to the next Assembly. Lost.

Rev. Mr. Pollock then moved to overture to the Presbyteries this question: "Is Papal baptism valid?" The vote on this motion stood: yeas, 75; nays, 21. So the question was overtured.

The Clerk asked whether the Assembly desired the publication of Dr. Pressly's paper on the validity of Papal baptism. A vote was taken, and the Assembly ordered the paper to be printed.

THE SCRIPTURE LAW OF DIVORCE.

The report on the Scripture law of divorce, as published, was then taken up, and after brief discussion was recommitted to the committee, to report next year.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

The report of the Judicial Committee, to whom was referred the memorial on the 15th Article of the Testimony on Secret Societies, was then read. The committee report a resolution that it is inexpedient at this time to send down the question to the Presbyteries, as prayed for by the Presbytery named. The resolution was adopted.

The committee also reported in regard to the memorial of the Chartiers Presbytery, with a resolution enjoining all church sessions to exercise the discipline of the church against all persons belonging to secret societies, of whatever character. The resolution quoted the language of the Testimony on this subject.

Rev. Mr. Jackson stated that if this resolution was carried out in its letter and spirit, it meant that they must go home and go to work—and most of the sessions would have work enough to keep them busy until the next meeting of the Assembly.

Other members made remarks of a similar tenor—intimating that if the discipline of the church on this subject was strictly inforced, there would be a very extensive "clearing out" in many of the congregations.

Rev. Mr. Turnbull offered an amendment giving the Sessions discretion in the exercise of the discipline of the church on this subject.

Rev. Mr. Pollock stated that the church had a work to do on this subject, and the sooner they began it the better for the souls of men and the cause of Christ. [Applause.]

Rev. J. L. Purdy thought the resolution too harsh in its terms.

Rev. Mr. McHenry was opposed to the term "discretion," as it would virtually permit the Sessions to nullify the discipline of the church. The amendment meant this, or it meant nothing.

Mr. Robert McCague then moved to lay the whole matter on the table, leaving the subject as the last Assembly had left it.

Dr. Easton offered as a substitute a resolution declaring in effect that no action of the last Assembly in the least altered or limited the law of the church on the subject of secret societies.

Rev. Mr. Jackson, asked whether if a Session had admitted a member of the Protestant Association since the action of the last Assembly, that Session would now be compelled to exercise discipline in that case?

No answer was given to this question.

Dr. Easton's substitute was then put and carried almost unanimously.

FREEDMEN'S MISSIONS.

The report on Freedmen's Missions, previously published, was then read. Appropriations of $6,500 for Vicksburg, $6,000 for Nashville, and $1,000 for Leavenworth are asked for. The report was adopted.

REPORT ON NARRATIVE.

Rev. Wm. Bruce presented the report of the Committee on Narrative and State of Religion. The statistics are as follows:

The report states that on the whole these statistics are of an encouraging character. It recommended appointment of a Committee on Narrative before the adjournment of this Assembly, to continue during the year, and report to the next Assembly. The report and the recommendation were adopted.

Rev. Mr. Pollock moved that the present Committee on Narrative be continued during the coming year. Agreed to.

ON PSALMODY.

Rev. Mr. Pollock offered the following:

ADJOURNMENT.

After transacting some business of minor importance, the Assembly adjourned to meet in Xenia, Ohio, on the fourth Wednesday of May, 1870.

TRINITY CHURCH.

THE CORNER STONE LAID.

Interesting and Impressive Ceremonies Yesterday.

Addresses by Bishop Kerfoot, Hon. Wilson McCandless, Jas. M. Cooper, Esq., Hon. Thos. M. Howe and the Rector.

The corner stone of Trinity Church on Sixth avenue, was laid with imposing ceremonies yesterday. There was a very large crowd, consisting of members of the church and a large number of members of the other Episcopal churches in this diocese, together with other spectators.

The ceremonies were conducted according to the formulas prescribed by the ritual of the church, by Rt. Rev. J. B. Kerfoot, assisted by the clergy and laity. The clergy, headed by the Bishop, at five o'clock, marched in a procession from the chapel to the corner stone; the psalm prescribed in the ritual, and the Lord's prayer were repeated.

THE CONTENTS OF THE BOX.

After the Bishop had read the collects the Rector, Rev. Scarborough, read the contents of the box, which were:

1. A copy of the Holy Scriptures.
2. A copy of the book of common prayer.
3. Copy of the journal of the last General Convention of the Episcopal Church of the United States; a journal of the Convention of the Diocese of Pittsburgh.

The box was then placed in the corner-stone, after which Bishop Kerfoot said:

ADDRESS BY BISHOP KERFOOT.

The request has been made that I speak here a word of encouragement. This act that we are now performing has a bearing and significance not only to ourselves, but we believe in the mind of God whose house we are now building. We acknowledge Him in all our ways. We especially acknowledge Him when we are about to erect a temple to His holy name. We ask His blessing as we come to give back a part of that which He has given us. We ask Him to bless our work, and make it bountiful in blessing to ourselves and our children. And we desire to offer encouragement to rector, clergy and vestry, on this occasion so full of encouragement to us all. You have done well in thus preparing to erect a house dedicated to God and the Holy Church. God bless you all, and may He make us desirous to consecrate ourselves and all we are to His glory and service. In placing this corner-stone we do it to glorify the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. In placing this stone here we wish to give forth no uncertain sound. We accept the Bible as the word of God, and the Church of God as explaining that word. We thank God for the blessings of peace and holiness that have come down to us from generations gone by. We wish to hand down the heritage to all generations to come.

The dedicatory services were then proceeded with, the Bishop concluding by reading the following:

I lay the corner-stone of an edifice to be here erected by the name of Trinity Church, to be devoted to the service of Almighty God, according to the doctrine, discipline, and worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America.

Other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, even Jesus Christ, who is God over all, blessed for evermore, in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins. Amen.

The translation of an ancient hymn, "Angulare Fundamentum," was sung, commencing:

"Christ is our corner-stone,
On Him alone we build."

Hon. Wilson McCandless, Judge of the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania, was then introduced and spoke as follows:

ADDRESS OF JUDGE M'CANDLESS.

RIGHT REVEREND SIR, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—Standing on this consecrated ground, surrounded by the mouldering ashes of the dead, as one of the few surviving links between the past and the present, I have been requested by the Rector and my brethren of the vestry to utter a few words upon this interesting occasion. Attracted more by the Masonic pageant than by any knowledge of the object of the ceremonial, when a boy, I witnessed the imposing rite of laying the corner-stone of "Old Trinity." It was of that symbolic character which impresses youth, and is not forgotten in age. The venerable Grand Master, adorned with the jewels of his office, directed the craftsman to test the stone with the "plumb, level and square," and if found "true and trusty," to lay it due "East and West," to drop upon it the "corn" of plenty, the "oil" of joy, and the "wine" of refreshment, and committed it to the purposes for which it was designed. So accurately did the craftsman work, that when the stone was brought to "light," after the lapse of nearly half a century, it was found in its proper position, and its metallic contents in a sufficient state of preservation, to tell the story of its burial. Of all the Masonic brethren and the "humble and holy men of heart" whose names are there inscribed, not one survives to participate in the solemn ceremonies of to-day.

Nearly all the worshippers of this venerable parish, of that day, have gone to their reward. The young clergyman fresh from the conflict of the Bar, who had fled to the horns of the alter, under whose auspices the cornerstone was laid, and who has since filled the world with his fame, has "joined the spirits and souls of the righteous to bless the Lord—to praise and magnify him forever." I need not refer to the history of "Old Trinity," which has been written with pathos and beauty by your able and accomplished Rector, and which was listened to with mingled feelings of joy and sorrow, at the last sad services within its sacred precincts.

We now begin the history of the new. Do not forget the generous men who, from the abundance of their liberality, will cause these walls to rise in grandeur and magnificence, an ornament to your city, the pride of your Diocese, and a tribute to the Trinity which you devoutly worship. Remember them in your prayers and thanksgivings. Remember them when the grand organ sounds the "Te Deum," and the "Gloria in Excelsis," when the bells toll for Good Friday, or ring their merry chimes at Christmas and Easter. Remember, in the erection of this stately edifice, the great good they will be instrumental in accomplishing for the Church and the world. And when the imposing tower whose base is laid broad and deep, like the foundations of the religion you profess, shall raise its lofty pinnacle towards Heaven, let it be emblematic of our aspirations, our hopes, and of our ultimate destiny.

ADDRESS BY MR. COOPER.

James M. Cooper, Esq., delivered the following address:

Our worthy Rector, who has arranged the programme of the proceedings for the present interesting occasion, and who is Chairman of the Committee on Speaking, has recruited me into the service from among the laity, for a brief address.

As I am accustomed to look upon him as my spiritual father and guide, and to pay great respect to his admonitions and advice, I do not feel at liberty to decline obedience to his call, and all that I have to regret is, that so far as I am concerned, his selection did not indicate some one in my stead who would be better qualified to meet the exigency, and who could discourse to you in more fitting and glowing terms upon this most interesting event in the history of Trinity parish. Forty-seven years ago, there stood upon the spot where we now stand a goodly company of the faithful, engaged, as we are to-day, in the pious duty of laying the corner-stone of an edifice, to be consecrated to the worship of the living God.

Among the people thus engaged were those whose duty it was to see that the stone was placed with precision, by plumb and level and square, according to the time-honored ceremonies of the Masonic Order.

Conspicuous and participating in these, and the more sacred rites of the occasion, was one who has so closely identified himself with the history of Trinity Church and its parish, that the name of Hopkins is always associated with them in the minds of those whose thoughts recall anything of the past glories of old Trinity.

He was at once its projector, architect and builder, superintending and working with his own hands in its minutest details, and when the work was accomplished, he stood forth before the people, as their religious counsellor, and dispensed from its pulpit, in his own eloquent and inspired language, the riches of his Maker's grace, expounding the fullness and sufficiency of the Gospel he was called to preach.

After a long life of piety and usefulness in the service of Christ and of His Church, the good man closed his earthly career full of honor and as the Senior Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States.

But there were others there, partaking in those interesting ceremonies. The fathers and mothers of the parish; the ancestors of the many here assembled. Alas! where are they? No voice responds, since the dark portals of the tomb have closed upon their earthly remains.

What tender and affecting memories are associated with thee, dear old Trinity Church! Within thy sacred walls, what scenes have transpired to endear thy memory to the hearts of those who have sought thy courts to obtain the consolations and encouragements afforded by our most holy religion? How many around me have received the holy rite of baptism at thy fount, and been received at the altar, into the congregation of Christ's flock with the sign of the cross?

How many in riper years have here renewed the vows our sponsors made for us in baptism, and ratified and confirmed the same, renouncing the devil and all his works, the pomps and vanity of this wicked world, and all the sinful lusts of the flesh; and made a solemn confession of our faith, according to the order of confirmation?

And how often have the faithful repaired hither to gather new strength in our conflicts with the world under the droppings of the old sanctuary; and taken fresh comfort to our souls in the eucharistic feast of the body and blood of our Lord Jesus Christ, whereby our sinful bodies may be made clean by His body, and our souls washed through his most precious blood?

There are indeed sweet and endearing memories in our hearts, of the dear old Church, which can never be effaced, and it is pleasant to know that her walls, although now thrown down, shall rise again by being incorporated into the new, and that the materials of the former building will be utilized, as far as practicable, into the edifice now being erected. Old Trinity has fulfilled its mission, and the Parish having grown in power and numerical strength, demands room for expansion, and a larger and more commodious place of worship, for the convenience and comfort of our present and prospective congregation.

Then, inasmuch as God has blessed us with prosperity, and greatly increased the wealth and population of the Parish, it is fitting and proper that we should acknowledge His goodness and mercy towards us, by building a new temple to His honor, such an one as may truly express our gratitude to Him, and keep pace with the progress of the age in which our lives are cast.

Let it be such as shall demonstrate our sense of the duty we owe to Him from whom cometh every good and perfect gift, and who withholdeth no good thing from those who truly love Him and serve Him in spirit and in truth.

Let it also be a suitable monument of the culture and civilization of our day, so that those who are to come after us, and who shall occupy our places long after we have been gathered to our fathers, shall learn from our example to give of their abundance for kindred objects, and for the extension and enlargement of the Redeemer's kingdom.

The building whose foundations are now laid, and the corner-stone of which has now been firmly set in its place, with all the imposing solemnity of our church ritual, is entitled to the distinction of being regarded as the mother church of this diocese, this being the mother parish.

The beautiful chapel, so recently finished, and which has given such universal satisfaction, is part of the same general plan of improvement, and may be accepted as an earnest of what the principal structure, the church itself, will be when completed.

It is for you, Episcopalians, and especially for the members of Trinity parish, to say how beautiful and how appropriate the main edifice shall be in all its appointments and decorations.

If every individual member will do something, according to the ability of each, to uphold the hands of your building committee, the work will be done, and well done, and we shall present you with a structure complete in all respects from turret to foundation-stone, of which the humblest among us, equally with all the rest, may well be proud as having contributed something, let it be much or little, toward the good work. I would say, then, "Let those give now who never gave before, and those who always gave now give the more."

The vestry, through the building committee, whom they have invested with ample power and authority, are determined to confine themselves within the limits prescribed by the subscriptions obtained; for we feel that honesty in all our dealings is a religious as well as a moral duty, and that we have no right to contract a debt we are unable to pay.

It will depend, therefore, upon your liberality whether the designs of the architect shall be in all respects carried into execution, or whether some of the details shall fail of accomplishment for want of the necessary means to complete the work according to the plan and specifications adopted by the committee. It surely cannot be that we, whom God has blessed so much, will fall short of our whole duty in rendering back to His honor and glory something of the abundance He hath lavished on us, and as we witness these sacred walls rising in solemn grandeur, and the tall spire of our new Temple piercing the skies, shall we not look up from earth to Heaven, and in the bright hope of a place hereafter in the church triumphant, resolve each and every one of us, that we will be true and faithful soldiers of the cross, fighting manfully under His banner, in the warfare we have undertaken in behalf of the church militant, and having done our whole duty, we may safely leave the issue with God, invoking His blessing upon our efforts, and praying for the growth and prosperity of our Zion; that the boundaries of His Kingdom may be greatly enlarged, in the salvation of souls, until the advent of that day when He shall come again in glory, and when the trump of the Archangel shall proclaim that time shall be no more; when the Earth shall be rocked from her foundations, and expiring nature shall return to the chaos from which she sprang at His command; the cloud-capped towers, the gorgeous palaces, the solemn temples, the great globe itself, yea, all which it inherits shall dissolve; and, like the baseless fabric of this vision, leave not a trace behind.

Then, oh then, may our names be found written in the Lamb's book of life, and may these, our feeble efforts in His cause, go up as a sweet smelling savor, before the great white throne, and may it be ours to hear those thrilling and ecstatic words of comfort to our souls: "Well done, good and faithful servants. Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for you, from the foundation of the world."

THE RAIN.

During the latter part of Mr. Cooper's address, the rain compelled an adjournment to the chapel.

ADDRESS OF HON. THOMAS M. HOWE.

Hon. Thomas M. Howe was introduced by the Recor, who said that, although connected with another parish, the speaker was still a vestryman in old Trinity, and one of its best friends.

Mr. Howe spoke as follows:

Rt. Rev., the Bishop, the Clergy, the Ladies and Gentlemen: I very much doubt as to whether I can add anything to what has already been so well said which may be worthy the interesting occasion which has brought us together, and yet the place and its associations constrain me not to be wholly silent.

Although my church relations have been for a few years more intimately connected with one of the suburban parishes, my name remains enrolled amongst the membership of Trinity, for which I still cherish a more than filial affection; and I come here to-day to unite with others in laying the corner stone of a new edifice upon the site of the old, devoutly trusting that it may be a place where God shall delight to be with His people, and where the labors of His chosen ministers shall be abundantly blessed in winning souls to Christ.

To those entrusted with the management of its temporal relations I would say—let no one be denied the privileges of the Sanctuary because of his humble condition. Open wide your doors that all may be free to enter, remembering always that when our Savior was inquired of by the disciples of John whether it was "He that was to come," He answered, "go and tell John that to the poor the gospel is preached."

This was the conclusive evidence that He was indeed the very Christ.

Around this sacred spot are clustered many very tender and endearing memories, that have become a part of my being; and which can never fade as long as life shall last—may I not better say, so long as immortality endures.

For almost forty years this was the spot where I was accustomed to unite with my neighbors in the worship of God.

It was here that the sacred influences of God's holy spirit imbued me with Christian courage to confess before men my faith in the Blessed Redeemer.

It was here that my children were dedicated to God in holy baptism. And it was in these grounds that I committed to the earth the first born of my cherished sons.

These are my memories which can never die—and wherever I may be, my heart will ever turn to Trinity Church as the source under God of unnumbered spiritual blessings to me and mine.

THE ADDRESS OF THE RECTOR.

The Rev. John Scarborough then said:

DEAR BRETHREN: May I be pardoned a word, although it was not my intention to say anything to-day? My feelings perhaps can better be imagined by some who have stood in the same relation before, if any here ever stood in the same relation. To hear these old memories of the parish I represent recalled; to hear men known in all this community, yea, known far beyond the community where they live—when I hear them speaking words of love for the parish where I minister, a feeling of tenderness enters my heart that words cannot describe. I bless God for this, as I consider it a sacred inheritance; for I have not labored to secure, but rather inherit it. Other men have gathered the precious fruits, and it has been my privilege to enjoy the fruit by inheriting it. I do rejoice that God's Providence has called me, and believe it was God's Providence that called me to minister to such a parish and to such a people. My heart is overflowing with love and tenderness to those who have worshipped here, and are worshipping here. I feel to-day that a new thought has been brought up and that a new chord has been touched that hitherto did not vibrate, and the memory of this day will never fail.

Now let me congratulate the members of the Parish and the vestry and clergy upon the great work we are engaged in. I pray that God may own our labor with success; that we may do nothing for our own aggrandizement, but everything for Him, laying ourselves and all we are at the foot of His cross and asking Him to accept us and all we have as a sacrifice.

I know perhaps as well as all can know the enterprise and generosity made visible in these walls to-day. I know the noble generosity and earnest willingness that are following the work as the walls are raised day by day. I beg every member of my parish, if they would assist in the laying of that eternal church that means the joy hereafter, to take their part in the work, and do their share in the work of to-day, be it ever so little, so that when they look upon the walls hereafter they may think that they have at least one stone in the wall—that they have raised one part, be it ever so small, to the honor and glory of God.

If that corner-stone shall ever be unearthed, to give place, perhaps, in time to come, to a still more glorious temple, may the living voices in that day speak the praises of the men of this day, as the living voices of to-day have sounded the praises of the men who have gone before. We are rich in blessed memories. Our parish record tells a wonderful history; there are names in that record of which the parish may well be proud. May we be worthy of the words spoken to-day, and place our names not only upon the records of the Church on the Parish, but upon the records of the Church on High, in the Lamb's book of Life, that when all the earth has passed away our names shall be indelibly written, and continue not only upon the records of time but upon the records of eternity.

The audience was dismissed in the usual form of the Episcopal service.

HOME FOR THE FRIENDLESS.

The Ninth Anniversary Gathering.

Annual Reports—Interesting Exercises by the Children—Election of Managers.

The Ninth Anniversary of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Home for the Friendless was held last evening in the Union Baptist Church on Grant street. The spacious church was well filled by the friends of the institution, who appeared highly delighted with the several performances of the little folks. The exercises of the children were very interesting and showed that they received careful training. The institution is under good management, and all children received here are well cared for.

A platform had been erected in the front part of the church, on which the children were seated. On this platform there was one row of most beautiful flowers, and together with the children, who were neatly attired, presented a very fine appearance.

The exercises were opened by a recitation, by the children, of the 23d psalm, which was remarkably well done. The anthem "Glory to God" was then rendered in a very happy manner. Prayer was then offered by the Rev. E. K. Squier.

Rev. Mr. Moore then addressed the children in his usual entertaining and instructive manner. He succeeded in holding the attention of even the smallest child present throughout his interesting discourse.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

At the conclusion of the address, Rev. Mr. Newel read the report of the Secretary, Mrs. S. A. Trevor, of which the following is a brief extract:

Who that has a pleasant and happy home with all the enjoyments connected therewith does not rejoice that there has been a home provided in our midst for the "homeless and friendless." Nine years ago, it entered the hearts of the benevolent to organize this Home, and each year of its existence but adds to our conviction of its necessity. Since its organization hundreds have been the recipients of its bounty, the past year ninety has been the average number of children. By the blessing of God, good health has been vouchsafed to us, but one death occurring, and that one an infant for whom we could not mourn. We have received into the Home forty children, and dismissed twenty-nine; admitted for temporary shelter five adults and one foundling, for whom a happy home has been provided. We have twenty-three of our soldier's children for whom provision is made by the State. The report then gives, at considerable length, the character of some of the children who have been received, showing their pitiable condition, and their need of a home where they would be well cared for.

We are grateful to all who have assisted us and cheered us by their presence and pecuniary aid. Many have given of their abundance, and some of their poverty, both alike acceptable in the sight of God. We are happy to report that our family arrangements are well conducted by our new Matron, Mrs. E. J. Neel. By her kindness and affection she has won the hearts of the children, and tries to act towards them all a mother's part. All that are employed seem to have the welfare of the Institution at heart, and are faithful in the discharge of their duties. We are under obligation to Dr. W. B. Herlep for his professional services another year. Also to the editors of the daily papers for gratuitous publications. We would also thank kind ladies in Sharpsburgh who have sewed for these children. We gladly receive aid of any kind, or from any quarter. Before we bid adieu to our friends, we cannot refrain from again referring to our want; a large Home where we may receive all that are "Homeless and Friendless." The committee are obliged to be obliged almost daily to refuse worthy applicants. By economy we have accumulated a small fund towards this object. Is there not some one present who will feel it a privilege to aid us in this matter. We think some of our wealthy friends could not make a better investment.

The same gentleman then read the report of the Treasurer, Miss S. A. Trevor. The report shows that there was on hand at date of last report, $4,183 59, and that during the past year there had been received from various sources $8,723 50, making a total of $12,907 09. The expenditures were $7,768 58, leaving a balance on hand of $5,138 09.

On motion the reports were adopted.

ELECTION OF MANAGERS.

Rev. Mr. Young then read the nominations for the ensuing year as follows:

Mrs. E. F. Denny,
Mrs. Richard Haas,
Mrs. Dr. Dale,
Mrs. Gilb't Follansbee,
Mrs. James Agnew,
Mrs. Robert McKnight,
Mrs. R. D. Thompson,
Mrs. H. P. Swartz,
Mrs. Wm. M. Young,
Mrs. Dr. Trevor,
Miss Mary Nimick,
Miss Jennie M. Smith,
Mrs. Jas. Laughlin,
Mrs. E. Breading,
Mrs. Levi Wade,
Mrs. Robert Dalzell,
Mrs. Samuel McKee,
Mrs. Wm. Shaw,
Mrs. W. P. Logan,
Mrs. J. C. Lippincott,
Mrs. Moore,
Mrs. Chas. Arbuthnot,
Miss Susan Trevor,
Miss Mary Ralston.

Rev. Mr. Newel moved that the above named ladies be elected managers for the ensuing year, which was carried unanimously.

Declamations, songs and dialogues were then performed by the children in a very satisfactory manner. Each did his or her part well, which reflects great credit to them and their teachers. At the end of each performance, beautiful boquets were thrown on the stand, which were eagerly gathered up by the children. Some of the performers received as high as high as eight or nine, and were hardly able to regain their seat on account of their "gifts." The exercises were closed by the children chanting "the Lord's Prayer," after which the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Young.

ANNIVERSARY GREETING.

Below we give the Anniversary Greeting of the children, to their friends and patrons, which was composed by Mrs. Levi Wade:

Again the rosy June month
Has decked the earth with flowers,
Again the little wild birds
From out their woodland bowers,
Have sung their songs of greeting,
Their sweetest roundelay:
So we, with joy and gladness
Greet you, dear friends, to-day.

We dearly love our Christmas,
With all its merry joys,
The pretty gifts you send us,
Of books and games and toys.
Of all our days of pleasure,
So full of mirth and cheer,
Our day of annual meeting
Is to our hearts most dear.

For then we come to meet you,
And see your loving smiles;
To hear your gentle voices,
Which all our grief beguiles.
For then we come to thank you,
For all your tender care,—
For all your loving kindness,
Which we together share.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION.

The Meeting Last Evening—Discussion and Resolutions.

The Woman's Suffrage Association held its regular meeting in English's building, Fourth avenue, last evening, Miss Heineman in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

A letter from Mrs. Jenkins was read and ordered to be published.

Mr. Whitman read a lengthy essay, taking strong ground in favor of female suffrage.

Miss Smith followed with an essay, in which she endeavored to show that a great deal of the opposition to the female suffrage movement arose from the hold that custom had on the human heart. During her address she was frequently applauded.

The following resolution was read and discussed:

Resolved, That the women are not properly represented by the men in the government of the United States.

This was amended by striking out the word "not" in the resolution, in order to facilitate discussion, and Mrs. Danse took ground against the resolution by showing that drunkards (a slap at Congress), libertines and reckless men, such as are in power now, are not fit representatives of the female sex. She seemed to take it for granted that all men belonged to this class.

Miss Heineman followed in strong terms of opposition to the resolution. She assumed the right of the female sex to the franchise as granted, in other words looked upon it as an axiom, and with such premises brought arguments to bear in favor of her position. She spoke in denunciatory terms of the representation of the people of this country, and claimed that those in power everywhere were far from being the pure, intelligent classes that should properly be our representatives, much less the representatives of the pure, good and true women, wives, mothers and daughters of America.

A lady member thought that those who located grog shops at every corner were not fit representatives for her.

Miss Smith called attention to the fact that the ladies were thought fit to lay the corner stone of the Soldiers' Monument.

The following resolution was read by the Secretary:

Resolved, That the present unjust system of paying lady teachers in the public schools so much less than gentlemen teachers, can only be remedied by woman's suffrage.

It was moved and seconded that it be made the subject for discussion at the next meeting.

A desultory debate pro and con followed, and the resolution was finally lost.

Mr. Caldwell then offered the following:

Resolved, That woman is entitled to equal rights and privileges in government and society.

This resolution was voted the special order for next meeting.

Mr. Moreland, Mr. Caldwell and Mrs. Spencer, of the Association, were appointed to discuss the resolution.

A motion was made that the hour for convening the next meeting be changed from 7 till 7½ o'clock P. M. Carried.

Another was made that essayists be limited to ten minutes. Amended that speakers on the question be limited to ten minutes, and essayists to half an hour.

The amendment was lost, and the vote recurring on the "previous question," it was also lost.

The next meeting was announced by the Chairman to take place on the first Thursday in July, at half past seven o'clock, P. M., notice of the place to be given through the press.

A meeting of the Executive Committee was also called for next Saturday week, at four P. M., at No. 256 Penn street.

Several ladies and gentlemen were then received as members, after which the meeting adjourned.

HOOP SKIRTS for 50 cents, at Morganstern & Co.'s, 78 and 80 Market street.

A FIRST CLASS eating house is the "Brilliant," No. 30 Allegheny Diamond. Business men nearly all take their meals there.

NEW LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—The Western Pennsylvania Life Insurance Company has just been organized in this city, with a capital stock of $1,000,000. Books for the subscription of stock will be open at the Third National Bank and Tradesmen's National Bank.

ELEGANT.—The white walking dresses at Morganstern & Co.'s, 78 and 80 Market street.

Public Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—A fine audience assembled in the Academy last evening to witness the performances of Kelly & Leon's Minstrels. Where everything is so perfect there is little use to particularize. Leon, Hart, Kelly, in fact all the members of the company are good, and give an unexceptionable entertainment. All should visit the Academy before the close of their engagement on Saturday.

THE CIRCUS.—Notwithstanding the lowering weather yesterday, both performances of Dr. Thayer's great circus were attended by large crowds of people, who were highly delighted with what they witnessed. The exhibition is one of the best, and cannot fail to give satisfaction. Every one should visit the circus during its short sojourn among us.

MASONIC HALL.—A full house was in attendance on the prestidigitation of Prof. Anderson at Masonic Hall last evening. His movements are very dextrous, and keep his audience amazed all through the entertainment. He is one of the best in the profession. At the end of the performance one hundred articles of beauty and utility were distributed among the audience.

OPERA HOUSE.—To-morrow afternoon and evening the complimentary benefits to Messrs. Conklin and Hotto take place at the Opera House. A fine bill will be presented on each occasion.

CONCERT.—A grand vocal and instrumental concert will be given at the First Universalist Church, corner of Third avenue and Grant street, this evening, by the choir of the church, and a number of amateurs. The choir contains some of the finest talent in the city, and the concert will no doubt be well worth hearing.

The Popular Tonic of the Age.

The day has gone by when a medicine without merit could command and retain the confidence of the world. Advertising induces the public to try many things, but in this shrewd and thoughtful age words will not suffice without proofs, and it is by the exercise of their private judgment men determine the relative value of the various articles recommended to their notice through the business columns of newspapers. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has now been subjected to this searching ordeal for more than eighteen years, and the result is that it stands at the head of the class of remedies to which it belongs. It has distanced and lived down innumerable competitors, and is to-day the standard vegetable tonic of the western world. The happy effects which have followed its use in cases of dyspepsia, biliousness, nervous affections, intermittent fevers and general debility, and as a constitutional invigorant, have entitled it to universal confidence. Nothing can ever shake its reputation, for it is based on the individual experiences of tens of thousands of witnesses, embracing prominent and well-known citizens of every profession, occupation and class. There is not a city, town or settlement in the United States where it is not a medicinal staple. No druggist or general dealer would consider his stock complete without it, and the returns of the internal revenue department show that its sales exceed those of any other proprietary restorative manufactured on this side of the Atlantic. The beneficial results derived during a long series of years from the use of Hostetter's Bitters, have convinced the whole community that the only true way to restore to health a broken down or debilitated system, or to put the human body on its defense when exposed to unwholesome influences, is to invigorate, regulate and purify it at one and the same time.

The Men and Boys of the Period

Go only to first class clothing establishments when they have determined to come out in new suits. Hence it is that we find Messrs. Urling, Follansbee & Co. doing such an immense business. In addition to the immense stock of ready-made clothing displayed on the shelves and counters on the first floor of their large building, the firm keep on hand a full assortment of cloths, cassimeres and other material, from which they get up the neatest of outfits. They carry on a large tailoring establishment in the second story, where an experienced cutter is employed. He never fails to produce a neatly fitting suit.

Paper Sacks and Twine.

There is but one opinion among grocers and flour dealers concerning the paper sacks manufactured by Messrs. Godfrey & Clark, at their establishment, No. 270 Liberty street, and that opinion is that their sacks are the best in use. They are water proof, and are capable of sustaining as heavy a pressure as any other sacks. A good article of twine is kept at 270 Liberty street.

The mouth is like a house to let. However pretty it may be externally, it is impossible to judge of its merits until you have seen inside. A FACT FOR PHYSIOLOGISTS.
It is a singular fact, that in this enlightened age and country, the treatment usually adopted by the Faculty in cases of Dyspepsia (Indigestion), is the result of a false theory, indicating a lamentable ignorance of the physiology of the stomach and digestive organs, and is in most instances calculated to establish and confirm the malady it is intended to remove. The Secretary of the Philadelphia Botanic Institute will feel pleasure in forwarding (free) to all applicants, the excellent botanic remedy for indigestion, bilious and liver complaints, recently discovered by Professor Walker, of Sydney New South Wales, Australia, and communicated to the Institute by that distinguished botanist. The Medical Reform Society, at whose cost these announcements appear, wish it to be distinctly understood that they will not, in any shape nor under any circumstances whatever, accept any contribution, fee or gratuity, for this recipe, the object of the society being to demonstrate the superiority of the botanic over every other practice of medicine, and in return only desire that those who may be signally benefitted by it will forward to the Society a statement of the case, and thus aid with facts in accelerating the present movement in favor of medical reform. Inclose a directed envelope to the Secretary Botanic Institute, 816 South Fifteenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
